A FLOUR WAR.

Chicago Wholesale Grocers Combining With Northwestern Millers.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—A local paper says that, growing out of an attempt on the part of a majority of the wholesale grocers in this city to form a combination with the big Northwestern millers, a flour war has broken out. Prices on the leading brands have been cut sharply by the local grocers.

Last week the Washburn-Crosby Company was approached by representatives of the wholesale grocers and asked to put a "limited price" on flour.

was that cutting was going on, and that by combining what is known as a factor basis in established price might be fixed whereby the grocers would nominally act as agents for the millers, and those who would not accept terms given to factors, or a mutual equality basis of selling prices, be shut off from the advantages given to factors.

The Washburn-Crosby Company refused to go into the combination. Thereupon the grocers who were working for the new plan, retaliated by cutting the price on other brands of flour. The discovery of the attempt to put the combination factor plan into the flour trade caused no end of comment among grocers and jobbers. The attention of Atty-Gen. Maloney has been called to the growing tendency among the grocers to establish prices by agreement since the plan went into operation with the sugar trust, and interesting developments may be looked for soon.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The nineteenth annual convention of the General Assembly of the Knights of Labor began here today. The sessions will continue about ten days, but all business transacted will be guarded with the utmost secrecy. General Master Workman Sovereign says the increase of membership in the face of hard times is exceedingly gratifying. One of the important subjects to be discussed will be the attitude of the members of the order toward political bers of the order toward political parties during the next national campaign.

At the close of the morning session Sovereign said that questions on credentials had been under consideration and were not yet settled. These, he said, did not involve important issues, but arose mainly on whether credentials should be received pending an appeal to the Grievance Committee. The master workman's report and other general business will not be taken up until the credential questions are settled and the convention fully organized. Sovereign's report will be brief and mainly extemporaneous, showing the present satisfactory condition of the order.

At the afternoon session, the discussion on credentials was completed. This clears the way for the reports of the master workman and the Executive Committee tomorrow.

As yet no resolutions of importance have been introduced. It is expected, however that a resolution as to Cuba will be introduced with a view to having the order express its sympathy with the insurgents. Most of the business to be transacted relates to the conduct of the assemblies. One proposition is to have district assemblies forward the per capita tax collected from local assemblies, instead of having the local bodies deal with the central organization. Another plan is to provide recognition for knights living in localities where there is no assembly. It is probable the meeting will take steps to refute the report that the order gives its recognition to unions made up of barkeepers and bartenders.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TIMES.) WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(Special Dispatch.) Arthur Delaney of Alaska, United States Circuit Judge of the Ter-ritory and Collector of the Port of Sitka during President Cleveland's first adninistration, points out a new reason for Great Britain's effort to secure

Alaskan territory.

He says that the Canadian Pacific Railroad is back of the scheme by which England will get a port at Pyrawhich England will get a port at Pyra-mid Harbor and control the Yukon River. The new British boundary line, he says, "swerves when it reaches Mt. Windham to the west. The reason is obvious, for as it runs, England ac-quires an end of the inland passage. By cutting off this nice slice of terri-tory, England would get the terminal of deep-sea navigation, Pyramid Har-bor, Chilcat and the beginning of the Yukon trail, which would give them a Yukon trail, which would give them s yast hold over Yukon Valley.

"If successful in her claims, it is obvious that England will control the key to a large proportion of the most valuable territory of the United States. In equiring the entrance to Chilcat Pas and the trail, England would own ing the Yukon River at its mouth and ascending it, this being a distance of 2500 miles to Forty-mile Creek and Circle City, now the principal camps in Yukon Basin."

Water Lower Than it Has Been for Years. MEGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS, RECORD.
NIAGARA FALLS (N. Y.,) Nov. 12.—
The water in the Niagara River is lower than it has ever been within the memory of the oldest inhabitant. It has been steadily going down for some time until proposed.

It has been steadily going down for some time until now rocks which have never before been seen are plainly visible.

The most noticeable evidence is in the gorge. The rocks on both sides of the river stand up on the banks several feet from the present margin. The water pours out very slowly from the rocks beneath the American Falls. At the Horseshoe Falls the volume is so diminished that the deep, thundering tone has changed to a light one. Table Rock is entirely dry and no water tumbles down the cascade between the Three Slisters Islands.

The Welland River, the largest contributory stream to the Niagara River hereabouts, has now no perceptible flow. The fear is expressed that should eastern gales spring up the river may run nearly dry, as the water would be forced up the lakes. The CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—The life of George M. Pullman and that of John B. Griffin, the manager of the Pullman building in this city, were menaced by an insame man tonight. Both men were to have been shot and killed on or before the 12th and 27th of this month. The delay of the maniac in making up his mind who would be the first victim gave the police time to arrest him. The prisoner is William Sherman, who has been employed as a window-cleaner around the Pullman building. A woman fortune-teller is at present held responsible for the suggestion that placed the lives of Pullman and his manager in jeopardy, and the police are now endeavoring to find her and ask why she advised her patrons to commit murder.

why she advised her patrons to commit murder.

At 5 o'clock tonight word was sent to Griffin that Sherman, usually a steady and reliable man, was going about the building making threats to kill him and Pullman. Griffin at once started out to find the window-cleaner, but he had left the building. Griffin then sent word to the police headquarters, and two officers were sent to look for Sherman. After searching for some time they found him in the freight elevator and took him into custody. He had no hesitation in declaring that he intended to kill either Pullman or Griffin, or both of them.

He said that during the afternoon he had consulted a fortune-teller because he was unable to sleep. The woman told him that he was troubled by secret enemies, and unless he killed them before November 17 or 27 they would kill him. She described the men to him and these descriptions were those of Pullman and Griffin. Sherman said that he would have killed one of the men this afternoon if he could have made up his mind which one to take first. The man was palpably insane, and was removed to the Detention Hospital.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(Special Dispatch) Warren Ratcliff McVeigh and Paul Tupper Wilkes fought a duel with revolvers at short distance on the Palisades at Fort Lee early this morning. They were seconded by Robert Rateliff Owens and Frank Butler. Both mer were wounded.

The four young men engaged in the affair of honor are well known locally, while three of them enjoy reputations of short stories and a leading member of Southern society. Wilkes is famous throughout the West as the slayer of George Shepard, one of the leaders of the Riel rebellion.

The cause of the duel no one except

The men met this morning at the Palisades, and five shots were exchanged. McVeigh's left hand was wounded at the third exchange and Wilkes was slightly hurt at the fourth. The men then shook hands and declared that their honor was satisfied.

Jackson. The Post says that some time ago the President had practically fixed upon Judge Peckham of New York for the place. It then continues:

"All these plans, however, are said to have been changed by the recent elections. Had Kentucky elected a Democratic Legislature it was confidently expected that Mr. Carlisle would, on the 4th of March, 1897, step from the Cabinet into the Senate. This anticipation cannot now be realized. The political revolution in Kentucky has also materially affected Mr. Carlisle's chances for the Presidential nomination, as well as greatly reduced the advisability of being a candidate, with the odds so largely against Democrats. Under these circumstances the political future has little attraction for Mr. Carlisle, besides which tastes and desire lead him naturally to a judicial Carlisle, besides which tastes and de-sire lead him naturally to a judicia position."

DENVER (Colo.,) Nov. 12.—A special to the Republican from Helena, Mont., says that Sheriff Jurgens has discovered a plot among the prisoners confined in the County Jail, charged with murder, to defeat the ends of justice by committing suicide.

By some means the prisoners in murderers' row had gained possession of enough morphine to kill a score of people. Eugene Stanley was first to kill himself. He died the day he was to have been taken to the penitentiary-for life. Today, when Bill Gay was found guilty of murder in the first degree, charged with killing Deputy Sheriff Mack, his cell was searched and the morphine found. The plot was then disclosed by the prisoner.

the Porte Disturbed by Outbreak in Asia Minor-Armenians Turn-ing the Tables on the REGULAR ASSOCIATED PROSS REPORTA CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 12.—(By Atlantic Cable. Associated Press Copy-right, 1895.) Each day shows the situa-tion here is growing more threatening. The Porte today, replying to the identi cal notes of the ambassadors of Ger many, Austria and Italy, simply said that information regarding the scheme for reform of Armenia would be for-warded to the representatives of the warded to the representatives of the powers "without delay." In other words, these three ambassadors, at least, obtained no satisfaction at all. It is not yet known whether the notes of the ambassadors of Great Britain, Russia and France have been replied to.

Russia and France have been replied to.
Surprise is expressed, even by diplomats in this city, who expect almost anything from the Porte, at the action of the Sultan, sanctioning the official note issued yesterday as cabled exclusively to the Associated Press, expressng Abdul Hamid's thanks for the "energetic measures" taken by the imperial authorities in "suppressing" the dis-turbances in Asia Minor, asserting that Order had now been restored in all districts recently the scene of riots and conflicts," and adding that "pre-cautions had been taken to insure the and conflicts," and adding that "precautions had been taken to insure the maintenance of order." This really looks like mocking the ambassadors. As to order being restored in the disturbed districts, it need only be said that the mobilization of about 150,000 troops to be sent to these districts is progressing as actively as the Turkish government can pursue the undertaking, hampered by lack of funds and the incompetency of its officials.

Advices received today announce fresh disturbances at Marash, Bitlis and Sivas, with attendant massacres. It is also announced that the battalion of Turkish troops in the garrison at Zeitoun, which recently distinguished itself by surrounding and shooting down Armenian insurgents, was later besieged in the barracks by Armenians, to whom the soldiers eventually capitulated with their arms and ammunition. The Armenians now occupy the quarters at Zeitoun previously occupied by the Turkish soldiery. The Armenians also garrisoned all important possessions in and about Zeitoun, and are gathering ammunition and provisions, throwing up fortifications and in every way preparing to hold the place. Considerable anxiety is felt in American circles here on account of the absence of news from districts where the American missionaries are stationed. Ambassador. According to advices today from Hadjin, several villages in that vicinity have been attacked by rioters, who massacred the inhabitants and plundered the property. It is feared the disturbances will spread to Hadjin. It was stated this afternoon in European official circles here that, as a result of additional exchange of views between the powers, a joint course of action, involving a display of the naval and possibly of the military force, has already been decided upon. Nothing definite appears to be known views between the powers, a joint course of action, involving a display of the naval and possibly of the military force, has already been decided upon. Nothing definite appears to be known regarding the course of action decided upon, but it is now believed that the Sultan will not be allowed to triffe with the ambassadors for many days longer and news of an important nature is expected at any moment. The financial situation here continues to be unsatisfactory in spite of the efforts of the Imperial Bank to bolster up the finances of the Turkish empire. In fact bourse business here is almost entirely suspended, and it is believed that this condition of affairs will continue until the European powers demonstrate to the Sultan in the only manner that he is capable of understanding that the cruelty and incompetency of the Turkish officials can no longer be permitted to endanger the peace of Europe.

A prominent member of the diplomatic corps was quoted today as saying that "the end of all this business is fast approaching, and this is the view taken of the situation by Europeans generally. It is understood that the powers have at last decided that further "identical notes," or other such communications, are useless in the case of Abdul Hamid, and that only prompt and efficient military action is likely to have an influence upon him.

The rumors so persistently circulated for many weeks past as to the probability that the Sultan will be deposed were repeated on all sides today and it would seem that they may have been revived by some definite statement on the subject having been overheard at one of the embassies. No further details have been received here of the recent massacre at Diarbekir; but from all accounts the bloodshed must have been terrible in the extreme. A large part of the town was burned.

The government, it is announced, decided yesterday to mobilize another twenty battallons of rediffs, which will make sixty battallons of riders, which will make sixty battallons of rodiffs, which will make sixty batt of the French Ambassador, M. Camhon.

According to Turkish official advices received by the government today the Armenians of Zeitoun have, since capturing the batailion of Turkish troops and practically obtaining possession of the city, attacked the village of Tchoukorhissar, killed thirty-five Mussuimans, piliaged a house at Dunghel, and carried off the arms and cattle of the inhabitants of that neighborhood. The Armenians are also said to have assassinated the secretary of the Collector of Customs of that part of the country. The vali of Adama, a town situated some distance from Zeitoun and near the coast, telegraphed that two hundred Armenians, disguised as Circassians, have attacked and plundered the Musseimans' villages of Zeitoun, Well and Mari, killing a number of the inhabitants.

It is believed in some Armenian quarters here that the estimate of 10,000-Armenians killed during the recent massacre as cabled to the Associated Press last week, may turn out to be considerably under the real total and that the sum may come nearer 15,000. Reports from Armenian sources place the number of killed at Diarbekir at over two thousand, but this needs confirmation in spite of the fact that it is admitted there has been terrific blood-shed and that a large part of the town was burned.

These packages were delivered to the agent and placed in the safe.

"After the train had departed, Agent George Krout went to the platform to straighten the trucks standing there, and when he returned to the office was met at the door by two masked men with drawn revolvers. The package containing $20,000 was demanded and the agent was compelled to open the safe and give it up. The agent said nothing about the remaining packages and the robbers left at once."

When Krout entered the office, two men, one tall, the other short, confronted him to throw up his hands. When Krout entered the office, two men, one tall, the other short, confronted him with revolvers and commanded him to throw up his hands. Krout obeyed. Then one of the robbers said: "Not a word from you. We want you to open that safe and be quick about it." With trembling hands he slowly turned the combination. When the door swung open Krout explained that there was only one package there, and, reaching in, picked up the envelope containing $20,000, which he handed to the short man. He then closed the heavy door. Krout's action in handing out the $20,000 package and closing the door of the safe saved the company $35,000. During all this time the theves did not appear in the least excited. The robbers ordered Krout to undress himself and get into bed. After he had done so, one of the men took pains to see that the quilts and comforters were drawn tightly over Krout's head and tucked down. Then they left. When Krout plucked up courage to gooutside, there was no one in sight. Before 11 o'clock posses were scouring the vicinity of the depot. The bloodhounds tracked the men along Pike's Peak avenue through the heart of the city. On the theory that they would go to Cripple Creek over the Cheyenne mountain road, the posses started from that city to head them off. The depot agent was not 100 yards from Krout's office while the robbery was being committed, but knew nothing of it until informed by Krout.

The express company's officials, believe that the robbery was committed by A. J. Gray, alias "Sam Weils." and J. H. Stuart, alias "C. J. Starr." who were arrested for the theft of $16,000 from an express wagon at Cripple Creek on April 11 and who recently, in company with Tom McCarthy, escaped from the jail in this city. R. L. Montgomery, who was a prisoner at the time of the escape, notified the police of Denver several days ago that Gray and Stuart plotted when in jail to rob the express company again. The officials of the company believe that the roblers had an accomplice in the bank.

San Francisco made a strong fight for the convention four years ago and many members of the National Committee then pledged themselves to vote for that city next time. Public-spirited citizens of San Francisco are working for next year's convention with characteristic energy and enthusiasm and have succeeded in adding to the list of pledges secured four years ago enough new ones to make them feel certain of having a majority of the committee with them when that body meets in this city a month hence.

This plan, of which, it is said upon good authority, Clarkson is engineer, has for its object the nomination of Allison for President and of Gen. McAipin of New York for second place on the ticket. Inner circles have for some time been aware that a move of this kind was on foot, and last month, when Gen. George Moreau, and formerly a popular society woman of Chicago, was burned to death at her residence in Paris early yesterday morning. The sad news was received last night by cable by her father, Paul V. Warren. The announcement came as a cruel blow to the friends of the unfortunate young woman, who had known her as Miss Nina Warren, the accomplished pianist, who was a wel-come figure at many of the social functions of Chicago during her residence herê. A pathetic incident of the terrible occurrence was the fact that Moreau was on his way home from New York at the time and arrived in Havre on the steamer La Bourgogne, only a few hours after her death.

The details of the frightful accident are meager. It seems that Mme, Moreau had fallen asleep while reading just before retiring and had tipped over a lamp and set fire to her clothing. She was alone at the time. When help arrived in answer to her screams she had been fataily burned. Mme, Moreau was in her thirty-ninth year, and had been married about six years. She was noted in the social circles in Chicago for her beauty and her exceptional musical talent. She was born in St. Paul, Minn. M. CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—The roads competitive with the Southern Pacific have decided to join issue with that line with its policy of putting into effect rates from San Francisco to Utah common points which the competing lines claim are not as fair to shippers east of Utah as to shippers west of it. A meeting of these was held here today at the office of the freight traffic manager of the Santa Fe, at which it was decided to meet any rates that the Southern Pacific might put in and take whatever other steps may be nectake whatever other steps may be nec take whatever other steps may be necessary.

The question presented itself how they could do so without endangering intermediate business, which was really more important. It was hard to see how it could be done without coming in direct conflict with the interstate commerce law. That difficulty has yet to be met. The probability is that the roads will ignore it and try to find some justification for their conduct. Meantime, they will make such rates to Utah as will, in their opinion, prevent the Southern Pacific from taking away the traffic and working out the other problems involved at their leisure.

One of the highest yachting authorities here, a gentleman who is in constant touch with the leading members of the Royal Yacht Squadron, informed a representative of the Associated Press today that Dunraven's action was regretted and condemned by yachtsmen. The press, as a rule, has begun to follow the lead of the St. James Gazette, which so strongly condemned Lord Dunraven yesterday.

The Globe says: "The American feeling over the matter is not wholly unwarranted. To raise the question now, when it is impossible to verify or disprove it, is hardly politic of sportsmanlike."

The Westminster Gazette also criticises Lord Dunraven, but the Pall Mail Gazette defends him.

The St. James Gazette says: "To bring up the deliberate charge of foul play weeks afterward is altogether unfair and deplorably injudicious and unpatriotic, and will-make more bad blood in the United States than half a dozen 'Corinto or Venezuelan incidents."

THE CANAL REPORT.

Changes Made in the Proposed Rout

NE WYORK, Nov. 13.—A special to the Herald from Washington says that trustworthy information has been re-ceived as to the contents of the reports trustworthy information has been received as to the contents of the reports of the commission which examined into the feasibility and cost, and recommended a route for the Nicaraguan Canal. The report is in the hands of the President, who is using it in connection with his work in the annual message to Congress. The report indicates that a canal across the isthmus via the Nicaraguan route is entirely feasible from engineering points of view. The cost of the project, as estimated, is $110,000,000, but it is stated this sum is too small by some millions.

The commission was nearly three months engaged in its survey work. The route, as proposed by the commission is 173 miles long, or three or four miles longer than that which the canal company proposed. The commission made surveys to the right and left of the company's route and has suggested some changes, which it believes will be advantageous. The commission's waterway will be supplied with locks. The San Juan Ritver and Lake Nicaragua will be employed, but the former will require considerable dredging. The lake is fifty-six and a half miles across, from the San Juan to the mouth of the La Jas. Some dreging will be required on the west coast of the lake, which is shoal for a distance of something like 1350 feet. Brito will be the western terminus of the canal and the distance from this port is a little more than seventeen miles.

The estimate has been made that, in order to complete the canal which the commission proposes, six years will be required, and in order to finish within that time a force of 20,000 men will have to be constantly employed. The commission also went to Panama and made a survey of the route there and also refers to this project in its report.

The Spanish first sent a volunteer major to parley with Gen. Rego, but the general would negotiate only with the commanding officers of the regular army in that jurisdiction. Gen. Rego eventually delivered sixteen wounded prisoners to a commistee of six Spanish officers, including a surgeon. It is believed that some of the prisoners were of a very high rank or otherwise the Spanish would not have agreed to the terms proposed by the rebel general. The Spanish will not disclose what those terms were.

The news caused a tremendous sensation in Havana. The Spanish are amazed. They cannot understand how Gen. Campos's officers deigned to close a transaction with a rebel general. They claim that the rebels are worse than bandits and that no honorable Spanish officer should enter into negotiations with them.

KEY WEST (Fls..) Nov. 12.—The Spaniards have arrested Ernest Brooks, a British subject and manager of the Soledad sugar plantation, Messrs. Lacot and Hughet, French citizens, and several Americans engaged in business in Guantanamo. The British, French and American vice-consuls demanded the release of the prisoners, but the Spaniards refused. Spanish authorities assert that the men arrested have paid tribute to the insurgent chief Macco and have also smuggled arms. The Spaniards, at the instance of Gen. Campos, have also arrested about fifty boys, members of the most prominent Cuban families in Guantanamo, to be held as hostages for the loyalty of their parents. It is reported in Havana that Campos will order under arrest the young sons of leading Cubans in all the provinces, hoping thus to prevent the spread of the revolution.

A SON OF THE DEAD COUPLE ON THE STAND.

Describes How He Found th Bleeding Bodies of His Murred Parents.

Positively Identifies the Trons Worn by Kovalev as Those of His Father.

Bandit Brady is Weakening—A Mexican Killed—Mutiny on the Ship Bohemia—A Maniac's Hobby.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) SACRAMENTO, Nov. 12.—Today in the trial of Ivan Kovalev for the murder of Grocer Weber and wife, Mrs. L E. Beesley, daughter of the murdered couple, resumed the witness stand and proceeded with her identification of the clothing found in the rear of the build ing where the murder occurred. Two white shirts, upon which the witness. W. T. Hamilton thought he saw ploodstains, belonged to her father, and the pair of boots also. The pair of tattered scarlet drawers were of unknown own-

Mai. W. A. Anderson of counsel for the defense subjected the witness to a severe cross-examination, but as she had lived in the house in which the tragedy occurred up to within a month and ten days of the commiss and ten days of the commission of the murder, she was positive as to what clothing her father possessed.

Luther Weber, a son of the murdered couple, described how he saw the blood dripping from the ceiling of the grocery store, and how he found the bodies of his parents. His father's face was so mutilated with knife cuts that he at first was unable to recognize the body. The witness identified the ax with which his parents had been brained by the murderers, and the hatchet marked "S.P. Co., No. 3." The ax belonged to his father, but the hatchet and the jimmy didn't belong to the place. The witness positively identified the trousers and suspenders found upon Kovalev's person at the time of the arrest, as having been the property of his father.

The cross-examination failed to break down the testimony given on the direct examination by the witness, with one exception, and that was that the one exception, and that was that the witness was sure of the identity of one of the shirts, but would not be willing to swear to the identity of the other. Senator Hart asked the witness whether he was willing to stake the life of the accused upon the accuracy of the statement that the trousers were made of the same goods as the coat and vest, and this question was objected to by Dist-Atty. Ryan.

and he would allow the question to stand.

The witness replied that he would be willing to stake the life of Kovalev on the accuracy of his statement.

Then Hart put to the witness the question up to which he had been leading: Was the witness aware that it was possible for another and many another pair of trousers to have been made out of the same kind of cloth? He admitted it was possible.

The most impressive incident of the trial occurred this afternoon when a middle-aged man George H. Jost, told how, at 7 o'clock on the evening of December 29, a few hours prior to the murder, he saw a man standing by the Weber gate. The man was a stranger and was dressed in an old-style overcoat, with a cap on his head. The cap appeared to be glazed or of oil-cloth. He had in his hand a club or a stick three or four inches thick.

The appearance of the man was so against him that Jost looked him straight into the eyes and took deliberate note of his appearance. He did so because the man looked like a hard character.

"Have you seen that man since?" in-

"Have you seen that man since?" in-quired the District Attorney.

"Yes sir." replied the witness. "I have seen him today."

"Where?"

"Where?"
"Sitting over there in this courtroom."
As the witness spoke he looked toward Kovalev, who was sitting in his usual fashion with his lips apart and his eyes staring straight ahead.
"Please step down and place your hand upon the shoulder of the man if he is in this room," said the District Attorney.

Attorney.

There was a buzz of expectancy as the witness walked down from the stand, crowded his way through the lawyers and the detectives and, stepping behind Kovalev, placed his hand firmly upon the left shoulder of the prisoner. Jost returned to the stand and Maj. Anderson cross-examined the witness mercilessly. Was he absolutely positive? Could he not have been mistaken in the man? No. Jost was positive.

DEPOSITS OF COUNTY FUNDS.

The Rights of Treasurers Will be Indicially Determined.

GREGULAR ASSOCIATED PRIES REPORT.)
SANTA ROSA, Nov. 12.—The right of county treasurers to deposit county funds in banks for safe keeping is to be judicially determined in this county. The question was raised last winter by M. Doyle, president of the Exchange Bank here, whose bank thus far has received none of the funds under the administration of E. F. Woodward, the present Treasurer. The action, however, has been started in the name of the State of California by Dist. Atty. Seawell, who first obtained the sanction of Atty. Gen. Fitsgerald.

A petition was presented to Judge Dangerfield today setting forth that Treasurer Woodward, when the County Board of Examiners inspected his office this month, as is done every month, had, according to the books $90,280 in his possession; that of this amount he actually showed only 10.392, the rest of the money being represented by special-deposit receipts. It is claimed that the District Attorney, who is a member of he Board of Examiners, made a demand to be shown the actual coin for all the money, so that it could be counted, but the Treasurer declined to produce it, ex-the past thirty years.

The District Attorney asked for an alternative writ of mandamus, citing the treasurer to produce all coin to be counted, or show cause why he should not. Judge Dangerfield issued the writ citing the Treasurer to appear next Tuesday to answer. It is not claimed that the Treasurer has not all the money properly deposited in banks or that the money is not in safe hands. The District Attorney holds that the money must all be kept in the county treasury so it can be counted by the examiners. The Treasurer is standing on what he claims to be his legal rights and the suit is brought to decide the question. Should the District Attorney's position be sustained in the courts it will result in the withdrawing of $300,000 from circulation in Sonoma county and all county money in every county in the State, amounting to about $5,000,000.

FRESNO, Nov. 12.—An unknown Mexican was shot and killed by a man named D. M. Blunt at Work's saloon in the mountains fifty miles east of Fresno, on Monday about 12 o'clock. The men were gambling and Blunt accused the Mexican of cheating. Blows followed and the Mexican pulled a pistol, but, as he fired, his arm was struck by a bystander and the builet passed above Blunt's head.

Blunt then dodged behind the bar, where he secured a pistol. The Mexican was hustled out of the door and it was thought he had gone away. In a few moments Blunt went out, and the moment he stepped from the door the Mexican opened fire again. Several shots were exchanged in quick succession and at the end of the duel the Mexican was found dead with one builet in his shoulder and another squarely in the center of his forehead.

The coroner's jury made no charge against Blunt, but he and the witnesses came to Fresno today and the matter will be laid before the grand jury now in session.

A MANIAC'S HOBBY.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—There was a sharp and exciting struggle out-side of Judge Sanderson's court in the corridors of the City Hall when Edward Weir. a maniac, struggled with his corridors of the City Hall when Edward Welr, a manlac, struggled with his keepers. He wrestled, punched and bit, but they suceeded in overpowering him and leading him again before the judge. Welr had made an attempt to escape from the cell in the Receiving Hospital on Sunday night, but was caught in time by Assistant Steward Callihan. He told another patient in the ward at that time that he would never go to the asylum. The first witness against Weir was Miss Connors, a pretty brunette. "The man came to my house," she said, "to sell tea. He asked me to marry him as soon as he saw me. He used to follow me around in the streets and scared me so that I was ill. He would swear that unless I married him he would commit suicide. Then he would break down the doors and chase me into the house."

Col. E. A. Denicke told Julge Sanderson that his daughter Ida was sick at home in consequence of Weir's persecution. Weir, he said, followed the young lady around the streets, called at her house, wore her violent letters, and finally threatened to kill her.

Dr. Creely said Weir called on him and asked him to go to Miss Connors with a proposal of marriage. On Dr. Creely's refusing to do so, Weir swore he would kill himself, but would make away with a few other people first.

Judge Sanderson, on the report of the commissioners that the man was insane, committed Weir to the asylum. Weir, a maniac, struggled with

JOHN SMITH'S TRIAL.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

Gives Sensational Testimony.

GIGULAR ASSOCIATED PIRSS REPORT.)

VANCOUVER (B. C.,) Nov. 12.—At the assizes today the trial of John Smith for the murder of Benson was continued. The morning was taken up with medical testimony and also the evidence of the police and others as to the discovery of the body.

In the afternoon Mrs. Norah Smith, wife of the accused, was put on the stand. Her evidence was of the most sensational character. She stated that improper relations had existed between her and Benson for two years; that on the day of the murder, Benson, who lived on a neighboring island, had come to see her and improper relations had taken place. Her husband had surprised them, and with a shingle mallet had knocked Benson down and then repeatedly struck him. He thendragged him on to the bed and shut him up there. Benson's groans could be heard for some time, but at night, when he was dead, she had helped her husband to carry the body to the beach. He had then put the body in Benson's boat and cast it adrift. When she heard that the police were on the trail she burned the shingle mailet and also her husband's clothing and Benson's hat, which were blood-stained. Her husband had threatened to kill her if she gave him away.

In cross-examination witness's story was not shaken, and she maintained her composure throughout. Her husband, the accused, takes the matter very coolly and during the hearing of his wife's evidence displayed not the least sign of nervousness.

According to this provision, the Union Pacific would be responsible for all the demoralization of transcontinental business that might come up if the other lines are not members of the association. The Union Pacific is ready to pool all its business to Colorado points, but it is ready to go of urther. The Transmissur! lines may come into the Western Passenger Association territory tomorrow, but there are troubled waters for them to sail over before they get in.

INDIAN EDUCATION.

perintendent Hailman Reports on the Need of State Co-operation.
(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—W. N. Hailman, Superintendent of Indian Schools, in his annual report discusses at some length the proposition to en-list the different States in Indian education. He says there is, in some cases, an unwillingness to admit Indian children to schools attended white children, and in some cases he thinks it might be necessary to con-tinue specific Indian schools for liminue specific Indian schools for lim ted periods. Superintendent Hailman states that Superintendent Haliman states that a hearty co-operation was received from the State, superintendents of schools in California, Oregon. Washington, Nevada, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa, and he believes that, in most of these States, it will be possible to transfer the work of Indian education to State authorities in a comparatively short period. Haliman discusses the difficulties which Indian children who have been at school encounter when they return to the reservations and the squalor of Indian life. He thinks efforts should be made to have agents put these Indians in homes of their own, and exert every effort to prevent them from reverse effort to prevent them from re-

he Bottom of the Battleship in Bad Condition. REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

MEGULAR ASSOCIATED PRIOS REPORT, WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The battleship Texas has come to grief at the drydock at New York and has sustained injuries the exact extent of which is not known at present. The ship went into drydock a week ago to cleaned and painted and to remove an accumulation of seaweed which had grown in the pipe gratings leading to the circulating pumps. On the 8th inst. Capt. Glass reported to the commandant of the navy-yard that on the regular weekly examination of that.

inst. Capt. Glass reported to the commandant of the navy-yard that on the regular weekly examination of the vessel made that day, Irames 43 and 40 in compartment B were found to be distorted, apparently from the straining of the ship on the keel-blocks. No other evidence of straining appeared and an outside examination failed to show any evidence of damage.

By direction of Commandant Sicard. Constructor Bowles made an examination himself and on the 9th he reported that the Texas was resting easily and supported thoroughly in all respects. Still, as a measure of precaution, six feet of water was let into the dock to lighten the load on the keel-blocks. On the 10th inst. further straining of the ship was reported, and then the dock was flooded to a depth of eleven feet, as far as the water could be admitted without danger of disturbing the position of the Texas on the blocks. Commandant Sicard called for a detailed account of the injuries sustained by the ship and in return received from the constructor a report stating exactly and by number the injured frames and where they were located.

This report was transmitted to the Navy Department with the statement by the commandant that no delay in the work then progressing on the ship would ensue and that the straining appeared due to the weight of the ship on the keel-blocks. The department was not altogether satisfied and has now called for still further particulars, regarding the report so far made as preliminary.

It appears from these reports that twenty-one of the bottom frames and

twenty-one of the bottom frames and the brackets of the Texas have buckled the brackets of the Texas have buckled from a quarter of an inch to an inch and a half, while the cement lining of the double bottom is cracked in many places. Whether it will be necessary to undertake to repair these frames and remove the dents in the bottom cannot be told unfil a further examination is made, and to do this it may be necessary to remove all the weights of the ship in order to draw off the water safely, otherwise the strains might again become excessive, and irreparagain become excessive and irreparagain and irrepa again become excessive, and irreparable injury follow.

In the absence of full details, which must, in the end, be gathered by a special board, the department officials are not disposed to place the blame for the accident upon Constructor Bowles, as he has the reputation of being one of the best dockmen in the navy. Instead, there is a belief that the Texas was too lightly built to stand her own weight while in dock, and if this should be the case it would cost a large sum of money and much time to straighten the hull. The vessel was built on plans purchased from England, and it is said the department officials were of the opinion from the first that they were defective, in that too much strength has been sacrificed in order to save weight, and make the vessel float at the calculated displacement.

The Park Commissioners, all of whom were among the first to join the new society, have set apart about ten acres in Elysian Park for use by the society, where planting of a complete collection of native trees, shrubs, flowers and bulbs will be commenced at once. This will afford not only a sight of much interest to citizens as well as strangers, but also an opportunity for study for those taking botanical courses in school. A flower show will be held by the society during Flesta week and again in the fall. The Friday Morning Club will be asked to take an interest in the matter of the organization. It is proposed to leave the management of the flower show entirely in the hands of the women and insure an artistic success.

JAPANESE EVACUATION.

It Will Take Place from Port Arthur IN February.

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The pur poise of Japan is to evacuate Port Ar-thur and the Liaio-Tung Peninsula by February 16 next, which is three months from the date of the payment by China of the 30,000,000 taels agreed upon for the evacuation. While three months is fixed as the time within which the evacuation may be made, it is probable that the Japanese will not take the limit of time, but will set about retiring from Port Arthur immediately upon the payment of the 20,000,000 taels on next Tuesday, as the cost of maintenance of the army is very heavy. It is also a further feature of the treaty for the surrender of Port Arthur that its evacuation by Japan shall not be followed by a cession of the fortress to any other power. An unofficial statement to this effect has been made, and it is credited here, but the Japanese legation has received no official advices.

CRIMINALS' APPEALS.

tty.-Gen. Harmon Suggests Relief for the Supreme Court. (REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Atty.-Gen. Harmon is busily engaged in the preparation of his annual report to the Pres ident. Since he assumed the duties of the office Judge Harmon has become impressed with the fact that a large part of the time of the Supreme Court in the United States is consumed hearing criminal cases which come be fore it on appeal from the lower United States courts or State Supreme courts and, with a view to relieving the Su-preme Court of much labor, the Attorand, with a view to relieving the Supreme Court of much labor, the Attorney-General will recommend in his report an amendment to existing laws by which all criminal cases involving violations of the United States laws other than capital cases now subject to appeal from the lower Federal courts, shall go to the several United States Cricuit Courts of Appeal for final learing. It is understood that the members of the Supreme Court are in favor of this proposition.

PERSONAL—ATTENTION! PROF. A. MYers, the celebrated European occult scientist, palmist, phrenologist and psychometrist, reveals the past, present and future of every individual with the greatest accuracy. Many there are who claim to be a scientist of the above-named, but who in fact scarcely know the meaning of the words, less of the science itself. He may unblushingly assert that, aside from Chairo and himself, there is no palmist, clairvoyant, mind-reader or whatever they may term themselves, who can bers dead and living in their family, to describe every incident of consequence which happened the individual's life, also describe the various marks on the individual; to tell without questioning how many times you have been married; to tell the country of birth, age and an accurate description of every member of your family; will tell you of your present circumstances and a clear divination of the future. To look back into one's past history is not a pleasant task, esbut Prof. A. Myers does it with the strictest confidence. He is able to give advice in all affairs pertaining to human life. He gives advice to the rich, the poor, the sick and the troubled. Readings given in general for $1.
Satisfaction guaranteed or no fee. Parlors 1 and 2. THE NORWOOD, 556 S. Hill st. Hours 9 to 12 and 1 to 6 p.m. Charts written of the con-Home of E. A. Herriman De-stroyed-Knights EntertainBrig.-Gen. Nichols.

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 12.—(Regular Cor-espondence.) The work of getting out ock for macadamizing is about to commence in earnest on the north hill. The rock-crushing plant is in place, the finishing of the bins being under the supervision of Capt. Vosberg. Above the engine and boiler-house will be placed a 6000-gallon tank, lately pur-chased by the trustees, so located as to run the oil from the boiler by force of gravity. Rock will be run into the crusher, and, as the rock is crushed, it will be carried by an endless chain elevator to the receiving bin, from whence it will be distributed to six other hopper-shaped bins. From these the teams hauling the rock will be loaded. The chute carrying the rock from the elevator is so arranged that it will grade the different sizes of rock much as oranges are graded. Slosson & McIntyre, who have the contract for quarrying the rock, are getting their tools and material on the ground todgy for commencing operations, and the street railway people will commence laying a track from the crusher over the hill to the quarries, No. I and No. 2, tomorrow. Ere long Fairmoun Hill will be a scene of great activity.

The remains of an unknown man were found in the brush near Rincon yesterday afternoon, with a bullet hole in his head, by a sheep-herder. The matter was reported to Coroner Sherman, who went down and brought the remains to Riverside. They are now lying at the undertaking rooms of Ward & Davis. The man is supposed to have been murdered. Sheriff Johnson, Deputy Dickson and Officer Baird are investigating the matter.

RECEPTION BY THE KNIGHTS.

The members of the Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, had a pleasant time last night, the occasion being a visit of inspection by Brig.-Gen. Nichols. The members assembled at the Armory, repaired in a body, fully uniformed, to the Glenwood, and escorted the general to the Armory. After a short reception, the distinguished visitor inspected the division, complimenting the membership on their personnel and proficiency in drill. At the close of the inspection the division repaired to the Glenwood and partook of an excellent banquet. The number of covers spread was thirty-two, and the party enjoyed a season of speechmaking, opening with a welcome address by Commander C. O. Alkire, responded to by Gen. Nichois. W. A. Cornell, A. S. White, F. A. Miller and George E. Bittinger followed in short speeches. The company dispersed at about 11:30 p.m., all voting the visit a big success. Yesterday afternoon Messrs. Alkire and Bittinger drove the general down the valley, and he expressed himself as delighted with the view. It was far beyond his expectation in beauty.

RIVERSIDE BREVITIES.

James Findlay died this morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Samuel Knight, at the ripe age of 78 years. The deceased had been a resident of Riverside for about nine years, coming here from Canada; and has made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Knight, and son, Daniel N. Findlay. He was highly respected. The funeral will take place from the Knight residence tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the interment will be in Olivewood Cemetery.

A. S. White, who keeps a watchful eye over Riverside's beautiful park, complains that some persons have been in the habit of dropping one end of the chain, at the entrance to the park, and leaving it down, thus making it possible for loose stock to enter the park and do great damage.

SHERMAN DECLARES FOR M'KIN-

John Sherman is for Maj. McKinley for President-there is no doubt of that-and a great power he will be in the National Republican Convention, going there, as we have no doubt he will go, as a delegate-at-large from the State of Ohio. A united Ohio delegation, with such men as Sherman. Foraker. Bushnell and their kind at the head of it, will surely exert a powerful influence in the national body, and go far towards securing the nomination of the cleanest, ablest most available and most representa tive American before the country today. That man, that American, is Maj. William McKinley, Governor of Ohioa soldier, a gentleman and a statesman.

Senator Sherman very recently has written a letter on the political outlook, confirming the Associated Press dispatch to the effect that he would actively support McKinley for the Republican Presidential nomination. In this letter the Senator says:

"The recent elections have cleared the political sky, and I believe have fairly opened a way for the nomination of Maj. McKinley. He will be heartily supported by the delegation from Ohio, and I trust will be nominated and elected."

This is a brief letter, but its lan guage is unmistakable; it is worthy of the writer. Coming from the vetman, the great Republican leader, with a brilliant public record of forty years behind him, it means much.

The prospect now is that Ohio will go into the convention a solid phalanx for Gov. McKinley.

COUNTRY VERSUS CITY.

The more rapid growth of cities than the rural portions of our country show is a matter that is attracting public attention, and grave fears are entertained by many as to the effect of this upon our national life.

Perhaps in no State of the Union is the drift of population cityward greater than in Massachusetts. As we learn from a recent census report, published by the Massachusetts Labor Commissioner, the State has increased her total population over 28 per cent. since 1885, but the gain is entirely confined to the manufacturing towns and cities. The pretty villages that used to hold so much of the charm of life, and the smaller country towns as well, are generally stationary or else have lost

This drift of population from the country increases the hardships of those who cling to it, and their burdens are proportionately greater. Upon the few rest the responsibility of making the country attractive. Abandoned farms are not inviting and vacant homes have a dispiriting effect upon the imagination. Improvements must necessarily be fewer and the social life less attractive. Yet the agricultural pulation is that upon which the whole country depends for its prosperity. Limit that, and we limit the advancement of the whole. Where farmers are few and the pop ulation is scattered the people suffer from want of good roads, pleasant social conditions, good schools and hes, and from a lack of postal tion is low; the undertaker is ready. munications and the facilities for Display that Was Second Only to the Marriage of the Duke of Marlborough and Miss Vanderbilt.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—One of the principal society events of the year, second in interest and magnificence only to the recent Mariborough-Vanderbilt alliance, was the marriage of Miss Pauline Payne Whitney to Almeric Paget, which was celebrated at noon today in St. Thomas's Church, in the presence of a distinguished company of guests, including President Cleveland and Secretarics Lamont and Herbert.

The bride, sithough yet very young, has been known in the society of this country and Europe for two years past. She is the daughter of Hon. William C. Whitney, who was Secretary of the Navy in the first Cleveland administration, and who is one of the wealthlest men in New York. Additional interest has been centered upon the bride because she is helress to several millions from her father and more from her grandfather, Henry B. Payne of Ohio, the oil magnate. The groom is a young Englishman who came to this country several years ago, and has acquired a large business in real estate in St. Paul, where he will reside with his bride. He is from one of the oldest and best-known families of England, and is the youngest son of the late Gen. Lord Alfred Paget, who was personal ald-decamp to the Queen and grandson of the first Marquis of Anglesea.

The patent of nobility to the family was granted in 1550. An older brother, Col. Arthur Paget, in 1873, married an American girl, the daughter of the late Mrs. Faran Stevens of New York. Queen Victoria and the late Prince Consort stood sponsor to Mr. Paget's elder brothers and sisters, and some members of the royal family have stood sponsors to his eldest brothers' and sisters' children.

Every detail of the ceremony today was arranged on a scale of costly magnificence. Not only were the floral deorations of the church most handsome.

orations of the church most handsome, but the music was very much out of the common, because of the appearance of Edouard de Reszke, the famous basso, and Mme. Nordica, soprano from the Metropolitan Opera Company, with other noted musicans. The presence of the President and two members of his Cabinet, Secretaries Lamont and Herbert, attracted great crowds of currous people to the neighborhood of the church and house, all of whom were anxious to get a sight of the officials, and a large force of police were necessary to preserve order.

THE CEREMONY NEW-YORK, Nov. 12.-The marriage of Miss Pauline Payne Whitney to Al-meric Paget was solemnized at noon to-day at St. Thomas's Church. The bride is the daughter of William C. Whitney, former Secretary of the Navy. The groun is the youngest son of the late Gen. Soon after 12 o'clock, to the strains of the wedding march, the bridal party proceeded to the chancel in the following order: Ushers Gould Hoyt, John C. Furman, H. Maltland Kersey, W. Cutting, Jr., Winthrop Rutherford, Jared Howe, Crawford Livingstone and the bride's brother, Harry Whitney. Then came four little flower maidens, Misses Catherine Barley, Laura Whitney, Francis Bingham and Dorothy Whitney, the bride's sister. These four little attendants in white carried a large basket of lilles of the valley and white roses. Following these came the six bridesmaids: Misses Gertrude Vanderbilt, Emily Vanderbilt Sloan, Azuba Barney, Beatrice Bond, Susie Dimmock and Edith Blake Brown. Miss Vanderbilt was in white, Miss Sloan in pink, Miss Barney in yellow, Miss Bond in heliotrope, Miss Dimmock-in-blue, and Miss Brown in green.

Miss Whitney, who entered leaning on the arm of her father, made a beautiful bride. Her wedding gown of ivory white satin was perfectly plain, without lace or embroidery, save a heavy slik cord which ran around the edge. The corsage was finished with a stock collar of pleated satin, covered nithe wist. The waist was seamless. A cluster of orange blossoms was fastened at the left side on the waist-line, and the veil was made from a splendid plece of point lace worn by the bride's mother, which extended almost to the train.

The bridal party was met at the chancel steps by the groom and best man, Gerald Paget. The bride and groom were met at the chancel steps by Bishops Potter and Leonard, and Rector Dr. John Wesley Brown. The charge was read by Rector Bishop Leonard, performing the betrothal service; Bishop Potter officiating at the marriage ceremony proper, at the altar rail. Immediately after the ceremony the newly-wedded pair were accompanied to the vestry by the President and Sir Julian Pauncefote, who subscribed their names to the marriage register as witnesses.

While the bridal party was signing the registry Mme. Nordica sang, and the flower-girls presented favors to the specially invited guests. A reception was held immediately after the seremony, at the residence of the bride's father, to which 400 guests were bidden. In the inner hall an immense bell of white flowers was hung, beneath which the bridal couple received the congratulations of friends. The decorations of the house were simple and effective. The wedding-breakfast was served at small tables set in the ballroom and diningroom. The bridal party were seated at a crescent-shaped table arranged across a bay window. The bridal couple will pass part of the honeymoon at Mr. Whitney's country-seat at Westbury, L. L. and later slowly four through the Eastern States, en route to St. Paul, Minn., where Mr. Paget and bride will make their home. At the wedding breakfast at Whitney's house 600 guests sat at small tables in the library, reception-room and ballroom. President Cleveland sat at Whitney's right; Lady Colebrook, Paget's sister, was on the left. President Cleveland rose when coffee came and made one of the neatest little speeches of his life—so every one says. He wished the newly-married pair all future happiness. He had known the bride since she was a little tot, and was convinced of Mr. Paget's sagacity wished the newly-married pair all fu-ture happiness. He had known the bride since she was a little tot, and was convinced of Mr. Paget's sagacity by his selection of a wife. Nothing could have deprived him of the satis-faction of being present at the marriag-of the daughter of his friend, and the only regret was that Mrs. Cleveland was not present to behold the happy pair to whose health and prosperity he gave the toast. The bridegroom made a brief response.

THE RING HUMBUG.

Sense is What Sam Davis Thinks the Newspapers Need.

Thinks the Newspapers Néed.

(San Francisco Calli) The experience of the last few months with a couple of windy prizefighters, known as Corbett and Fitzsimmons, ought to teach the press of the United States a little common horse sense, regarding the way their columns have been systematically worked by the people who make their living out of puglism. Of late years the ring has become an immense the ring has become an immense money-making concern, and through the slick operations of crafty managers the papers have been made to do the work gratuitously of getting vast crowds together to witness these events, by which the managers and principals are able to realize large fortunes. It seems hardly fair that men engaged in honest, square commercial pursuits should be obliged to ray reconstructed. nonest, square commercial pursui should be obliged to pay good, rour rates to the newspapers for advertisin rates to the newspapers for advertising their business when men who are outside the pale of the law and engaged in violating the statutes of the State in which they operate should be constantly kept before the public and given hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of free advertising per month.

If prizefighting is to become a national pastime, as there seems much likelihood of its doing, the newspapers and the public should insist upon the pastime being brought under such regulations and restrictions as govern other public sports. Horseracing, footother public sports. Horseracing, footulations and restrictions as govern other public sports. Horseracing, football, blcycle tournaments and baseball matches are obliged to conform to certain rules established for their guidance, but your prizefighter is a free-and-easy go-as-you-please fellow, whose only object in life appears to be to make as much money as possible by studiously avoiding to practice the calling which he claims to follow. Corbett has lived and waxed fat financially as a professional pugilist, yet he has not struck a blow in the ring for many years, and whenever an opportunity has presented itself for a fight his manager has managed to dexteriously avoid or postpone the event. In the old days of the prize-ring the puglist who maintained his hold upon the public was obliged to get into the arena every few months and lick somebody, or he was considered a back number, but in these days the puglists who do the least fighting seem to stand at the top of the profession. The main reason of this is that as soon as a prizefighter wins a battle of any importance he is picked up by some manager and placed on 'the stage.

The legitimate actor who by year f careful study and hard training is ble to appear satisfactorily in dra natic representations is obliged to pay or this advertising, but the profes for this advertising, but the professional pugilist, who uses the stage for the double purpose of making money out of a guilible public and avoiding the actual encounter in the ring, is given two or three columns a day whenever he appears in a new town. Th idea possessed by newspaper proprietors that everybody is hankering after this kind of news, and a professional rivalry in getting it, may account for a good deal of the sporting siush which washes through the columns of the press from New York to San Francisco. If the newspapers by common agreement were to treat pugilism like any other business enterprise and charge all managers of prizefighters the regular advertising rates, the entire fraternity of pugs would soon quit the business, and it would die out altogether. The following rules and quit the business, and it would all out altogether. The following rules and regulations suggest themselves as ap-propriate: First—A champion of any class must fight-every three months or give up his belt

First—A champion of any class must fight every three months or give up his belt.

Second—Puglists going on the stage should be considered as having retired from the ring forever, and theatrical managers employing them should be charged double rates for advertising.

Third—No mention whatever of any prizefight to come off should be made in any newspaper except on three occasions. (a) when the forfeit is posted; (b) when the stake money is all up, (c) when the fight occurs.

All other mention of any kind—in connection with the affair should be charged for at regular a vertising rates, payable in advance.

If these few simple rules were enforced by the newspapers the crowd of rough brutes and humburs who are now making money out of the puglistic craze would drop into absolute obscurity. In nine cases out of an puglists who make matches to come if at some indefinite future time never put up a dollar, and haven't the slightest intention, when they make the match, of engaging in a fight if they can bossibly avoid it. Corbett and Erzsimmons have humburged the newspapers into giving them nearly a million dollars worth of free advertising up to date, and, having secured what they wanted, are now praying that the authorities will be on hand in time to prevent them from getting into the ring. The authorities appear to be in the push to help advertise the alleged fights, and the-game goes merrily on according to their desires.

the final outcome of all the trouble will be is hard to foretell.

It was about the middle of the afternoon when Mrs. Mooney presented herself at the box office of the Burbank Theater and asked where she could see Lady Douglas. Manager Cooper, who happened to be in the box himself, at once recognized the inquirer as Her Ladyship's mother. Mr. Cooper said he did not know where Lady Douglas was at that moment, but that she would undoubtedly be at the theater during the performance in the evening. Mrs. Mooney said she guessed she would wait, and with grim determination sat down to the siege.

Presently Lady Douglas rode up to the theater on a bicycle. Greetings between the mother and daughter were cordial. Lord Douglas himself soon appeared on the scene, but so far from being horsewhipped his mother-in-law beamed upon him while he paid his respects as was becoming of the husband of her daughter. The trio then repaired in company to the Ardmore Hotel at Sixth and Broadway, where His Lordship engaged the best room in the house for his respected mother-in-law.

They had not been long at the Ardmore, however, before Mrs. Mooney asserted her authority. She told her precious son-in-law that she had come, not to horsewhip him, but to take her daughter home unless he treated her better in future, and likewise showed proper respect for herself (Mrs. Mooney). Lord Douglas waxed wroth at this, and when Mrs. Mooney insisted that Lady Douglas should not go back to the theater until her terms were compiled with, His Lordship commanded his better half to let her mother go to the demnition bowows and fly with him to their own lodgings at the Hotel Livingston. Lady Douglas demurred and said she elected to remain with her mother.

Lord Douglas then seized the lady and by sheer force dragged her from the room and down stairs. In the souffic Lady Douglas lost her purse containing $20, which she was afterward unable to find. Finally, to avoid a further scene, and after Lord Douglas had threatened to shoot her if she did not accompany

"Because he is not worth the bother.

Mrs. Mooney continued her walk up town. At Fourth and Spring streets she met Officer Redfern, to whom she she met Officer Redfern, to whom she told substantially the same story. Further on she met Sergt. Jeffrles, who also was regaled with the irate Mrs. Mooney's tale of woe, including her entire family history, an account of the birth and bringing up of her eleven children, and her desertion by her own worthless husband, who left her to live with another woman, "California fash-

To all these officers and reporters who interviewed her, Mrs. Mooney said she had no objection to her daughter remaining on the stage, but she did object to her supporting her husband, who had nothing but his title, in idleness. Besides, Lord Douglas, since his marriage, had written her very insolent letters, which she would give to the press unless he came to terms. She said the scurrilous letters were evoked because she had dunned him for money advanced for the expenses of his bridal tour. After his wife went to work and gave him all the money she earned, Mrs. Mooney thought His Lordship could-pay-back the loan, but, instead, the wrote her letters, which, if published, when the curtain for "Moths" was rung up at the Burbank Theater last evening. Lady Sholto was in her dressing-room as usual, preparing for her little song and dance between acts. Mrs. Mooney presented herself at the stage door, and, brushing past the attendants, was soon in her daughter's room, insisting that she should not go on with the performance. The stage manager ordered her to leave, whereat Lady Douglas fired up and said:

"Where my mother cannot remain, I will not stay, either."

Donning her street dress she left the theater, and Manager Frawley thereupon telephoned the newspaper offices, ordering her name taken out of his company's advertisements.

Fortunately, the play of "Moths," as presented by the Frawley Company, was so fascinating that Lady Douglas's little interludes were not missed.

Lady Douglas and her mother returned to the Ardmore, and fifteen minutes later Her Ladyship bade her mother goodnight and went to her own apartments at the Livingston. Mrs. Mooney retired to her room to rest, and gave instructions that she should not be disturbed by reporters or any one during the night.

Lord Douglas was in the balks, and declined to talk, save to mutter imprecations at the luck which brought his mother-in-law down here to spoil the whole business, when his wife had such a good engagement, and they were "getting along so swimming

It is possible that Santa Ana will have incandescent light system in the near future, so writes The Times cor-respondent from that quarter. So far, there has been only one company in that town which was fixed so that it could furnish incandescent lights, and as those furnished were shut off early last spring, since which time merchants have been obliged to use gas, or go back to oil lamps, the need for the incandescent lights seems to have ma-portation Northward.

THE OIL PROBLEM.

Discussing the Question of Transportation Northward.

The Executive Committee of the Los Angeles Oil Exchange had a meeting yesterday afternoon to discuss the problem of transportation, which seems to be nearer solution. It is said that negotiations are about completed for a means of transporting Los Angeles oil by rail and water to San Francisco. Eastern parties, whose names are withheld, are said to be ready to supply the needed transportation, and that only a few trifling details remain to be disposed of before the arrangement is consummated.

The proposition is to carry the oil by rail to tidewater, presumably San Pedro, whence it will be carried northward in a tank barge towed by a tug-dro, whence it will be carried north-ward in a tank barge towed by a tug-boat. The tank barge, for which ar-rangements are being made, will have carrying capacity of 10,000 barrels. It is claimed that the oil can be thus moved to San Francisco for about 35 cents a barrel.

It is estimated that there are now in store-in Los Angeles about one hundred thousand barrels of oil. If the barge line becomes a fact, and the surplus production is disposed of, producers may expect higher prices for their oil.
It is understood that ground will be broken today for the new refinery of the broken today for the new refiner Puente Oil Company at Puente.

The Rhyming Flend Loose.

The man who said there is nothing new under the sun, took it all back The man who said there is nothing new under the sun, took it all back when he saw the new woman flying along, as with the wings of the wind, on her bike with the spread of a fiend, assorting her right to wear rants if she chose, bursting out in bloomers as bright as a rose, defying all-time honored fashions and styles, but still she's a woman—look out for her wiles. As a man, I object, but get for my pains the sweetest indifference, and I fear she disdains, but with the same tactics played by the old, I'm drawn in an ambush of smiles, not at all bold, but she scatters my courage so stout that my objections are put to the rout, and since she is here and going to stay, we men had better submit to her sway and let this little creature have her own way, for when wills, she will, let's let her have her own way! For when she wont she means it and wont, and, you see, that's an end on't. Hence, sometime in the sweet by-and-by, when the sun hath painted the sky with a delicate pencil of light in crimson and golden delight; when the air is laden with sweetest perfume, and nightingale warbling a Trilby-tune, you, wandering home from sweet labor so tired and weary, but at heart so cheerful and merry, will find the new woman and new baby, too, on a tandem looking for you.

IN SOCIAL SPHERES.

The wedding of Miss Jennie Bonsall, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Bonsall, to Dr. Joseph W. Jauch, which took place yesterday afternoon, at the residence of the bride's parents, on South Grand avenue, was a very charming, though quiet, affair. The ceremony was performed at 5 o'clock by the Rev. B. W. R. Tayler, in the presence of the nearest relatives. The bride looked very handsome in a brown tailor-made cloth gown, edged with mink fur and trimmed with large buttons. A chic brown hat, trimmed with blackbirds and a steel buckle completed the costume. She carried a cluster of white carnations and maidenhair ferns, tied with white satin ribbons.

The Lohengrin "Wedding March" was rendered by the Countess von Schluterbach at the plano, and Mr. Clark, violinist. "Traumerei" was softly rendered during the ceremony, and the Mendelssohn "Wedding March" at its conclusion.

After the ceremony a dinner was dered during the ceremony, and the Mendelssohn "Wedding March" at its conclusion.

After the ceremony a dinner was served, of which Christopher was the caterer. The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. Albert McFarland, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Towell, Miss Towell, Mrs. Friesner, Miss Heath, Mr. and Mrs. Dan McFarland, Mr. and and Mrs. Charles McFarland, Mr. and and Mrs. Charles McFarland, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bonsall, Louise and Salile McFarland, Masters Sam and Albert Bonsall and Hugh McFarland.

After a trip of ten days, Dr. and Mrs. Jauch will be at home for a while at No. 2633 South Grand avenue. A large reception will be given them by the bride's parents, the evening of November 22, at Kramer's Hall. The occasion will also be the coming-out party of Miss Bessie Bonsall.

The gifts were numerous and very handsome. The rooms were effectively decorated, the ceremony taking place beneath an arch of white chrysanthemums and smilax, between the double parlors. At either side were massed potted plants, and above was suspended a large bell of white roses and carnations, a white magnolla bud forming the tongue. White chrysanthemums and smilax were wreathed about the chandeller, and the laced draperies were caught with ferns. and smilax. Pink and white chrysanthemums and carnations, with trails of ivy, were used in the back parlor, and roses in the hall. The dining-room was in yellow; the mantel was banked with yellow chrysanthemums, and upon the table were strewn fronds of the maidenhair fern.

BIRTHDAY DINNER.

Z. D. Mathuss gave a delightful stag dinner last evening at his home on West Seventh, in celebration of his birthday. There were covers for fourteen. The dining-room was charmingly decorated in yellow and red. A tall yellow banquet lamp was placed in the center of the table, and about it was strewn a muss of dark-red carnations. At either end was a yellow shaded cannation and a place card, decorated with a water-color sketch of a game rooster. On the cards of the gentlemen who proposed the toasts, the rooster was represented as in the act of crowing, and upon the other cards he was attending strictly to business. The mantel and buffet were massed with yellow chrysanthemum, and ropes of smilax were swung from the chandeller to the corners of the room. A bowl of delicious punch was placed in the hall, where chrysanthemums and smilax were prettily arranged. The parlor was decorated with roses. The guests were: Messrs E. P. Bosbyshell, W. C. Patterson, George Smith, William Wincup, Albert Johnson, Dr. Sallsbury, Dr. Whitman, George Pratt, George Danston, James Montgomery, J. J. Akin, H. M. Sale and Dr. Chichester. AN ENTERTAINMENT.

that $1462 has been transferred bodily from the special fund for the cutting through of Hill street to the general cash fund, and from there all trace of the money is lost in the shuffle.

When the matter of the regrading of Hill street from Tempie street to Bellevue avenue was being carried forward, the property-owners in a district extending from Main street west beyond Angeleno Heights were assessed to pay the damages resulting from the change of grade. The money raised by the assessment also covered the expense of the purchase of several lots from the the purchase of several lots from the Masonic fraternity, and one from the city, over which land the street would extend when connection with Bellevue avenue was made. This money was not returned pro sessment, but was turned into the general cash fund and was thus lost to those who had given it for a specific crai cash rund and was thus lost to those who had given it for a specific purpose.

The work of grading the street in question has been delayed by the protest of Mrs. Mary Banning, whose protest was set aside by the Council. She was awarded $2000 damages by the commission appointed to appraise the damages to her property resultant from the change of grade. Her time for acceptance of the amount awarded is now past, and work will soon be begun upon the street. If the property-owners are to be required to pay the cost of the work, they believe that in justice the money which they have already paid should be applied to that end. The matter will be brought before the Council and the city asked to either return the money or assume the expense of grading the street.

The oil stove was in the rooms of Mrs. Patterson in the rear of No. 513 South Broadway, up stairs. The fire burned fiercely at first, but was subdued soon after the arrival of the department. The part of the building occupied by Mrs. Patterson was gutted, and most of her belongings were destroyed. No one appeared to know whether the loss was covered by insurance. Mrs. York, who keeps a restaurant in the north half of the building, on the ground floor, was the loser by her goods being soaked with water, but her loss was covered by insurance.

Mrs. A. P. Glasgow, who occupies most of the upper part of the building, was the loser by water. Charles Strese, who keeps a tailor shop in the south part of the building in front, and Mrs. Shepherd, who lives in the rear on that side, had goods damaged by water. Mr. Strese was insured.

The total loss is estimated at $500. The building is owned by Callihan Byrne.

SAFE-BLOWERS BAGGED.

apture of the Burglars Who Robbed the Safe at Burbank Station and Attempted Several Jobs in This City.

This City.

The safe-blowers who have been operating in Los Angeles and vicinity for several weeks past are safe behind prison bars, thanks to the clever work done by Detectives Auble and Hawley. Not only are they behind the bars of the City Jail, but so conclusive is the evidence obtained against them that it is certain that they will within a very short time be in State's prison, which will not be a new experience for them, for both are ex-convicts.

One of the prisoners is Gus Armin. a German, 48 years of age, who has spent twenty years of his life in the penitentiary, being sent up twice from Sacramento, the first time in 1874, and once from San Jose, each time for burglary. In twenty-one years Armin has had only one year's freedom.

George Hatifield, alias Swan, has also done time in San Quentin. He is a younger man than Armin and has not been associated with him long. Hatifield was caught in the act of robbing the store of S. Griswold, No. 342½ East First street, one night the latter part of last week. He was examined in the Police Court Monday and held to answer the charge of burglary, in $3000 ball. Hatifield did not make a full confession to the detectives, but they wormed enough information out of him to learn that he had a pal and that they were jointly responsible for the series of burglaries committed or attempting to rob the principal store in the village of Downey.

The detectives got on Armin's trail yesterday morning and followed him to Downey. He carried with him a hand satchel containing a bottle of nitroglycerine, a big ball of putty, dynamite caps, fuse, drills and as complete a set of burglar's tools as was ever invented. He had placed his valise in the guiter at the back of the store which he intended to rob, and was getting ready to do the job when the detectives gathered him in.

On the way back to the city, Armin, seeing that the officers had a dead cinch on him, confessed everything. He admitted that he and Hatifield bew open the safe at Burbank station on the Southern Pacific, twelve

The Chief reported that the junitor work for that portion of the police station occupied by the police department could be performed by prisoners, and the clerk was instructed to inform the City Council to that effect.

The bond which accompanies the acceptance is in two parts. One part is for $10,000, the sureties being C. E. de Camp for the full amount, and S. C. Dodge and John Rebman for $5000 each. The other part is for $1500, and the sureties on it are Mr. Dodge and Mr. Rebman.

Mr. de Laguna said yesterday that he has 1100 subscribers for the new telephones, and intends to ask the city authorities to furnish a list of the places where the eighty telephones to be furnished under the franchise free to the city are to be located. The agent of the company will thereafter be able to make estimates of quantities of wire and other articles desired.

The question was put to Mr. de Laguna as to who were the backers of the enterprise, but he declined to say.

of the City Jail.

The Building Committee of the City Council has made some progress in the matter of getting additional quarters for city prisoners so as to relieve the crowded condition of the City Jail. The members of the committee have spent a good deal of time in looking about town, but thus far have not been successful in finding a suitable place for the purpose.

It is expected that the policemen will be asked to each hunt for a location such as desired and report what they find in that line. An adjourned meeting of the City Council is to be held this afternoon to take action on the matter.

a communication to the City Council, in which is requested leave to withdraw a certain proposition submitted by the company for the donation of land for park purposes. It is further caked that the following proposition be substituted therefor: "We will donate to the city a strip of land 120 feet wide, running 1200 feet east and west through the center of lot 2, block 25, for a boulevard, provided the city will dedicate a strip of land of like size, for the same purpose, running along the east line of lot 3, block 25."

City Engineer Compton said yesterday that he hoped to be able to present to the City Council next Monday the new ordinance of intention for the paving of Main street with asphalt from Ninth street to Thirty-seventh street. The preparation of this ordinance involves a great deal of painstaking, for any flaw that may chance to creep into the ordinance is liable to result in the whole proceedings being annulled thereby.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

THE COURTS.

C. J. Boyd Fails to Recover His

Justice Young's court has been the scene of much hilarity in its time, but it is safe to say that never, during the trial of any case, was more mirth ex-cited than yesterday, when C. J. Boyd, a sentimental grass widower, made a frantic but ineffectual effort to recover a gold watch and a ring set with one ruby and six pearls, value $4, which he had given to Miss Mabel Jones in the had given to Miss Mabel Jones in the fervor of love's young dream. Miss Jones, a blooming young woman of 21, was an interested spectator of the earlier proceedings, and her laugh rang out with the frankest enjoyment of the scene, as Boyd, perched on the lonely elevation of the witness stand, related his fale of wee.

related his tale of woe,

H. H. Appel, Esq., was Miss Jones's attorney, and Mr. Holloway did his best in behalf of the love-lorn widower.
Boyd told his tale of woe at considerable length and with much pathetfe expression, and seemed to consider himnelf very badly used. He related the circumstances of his first meeting with Miss Jones, and the rapid growth of his passion, which culminated in repeated proposals of marriage, and in the gift of the contested jewelry. Mr. Boyd stated that he had annexed a condition to the gift, viz., that if Miss Mabel, after mature consideration, decided that to the gift, viz., that if Miss Mabel, after mature consideration, decided that she did not care to share his fate for better or worse, she should return the jeweiry. She gave him the cold shoulder, but did not restore the portable property, so he wanted his jeweiry back. When Mr. Appel took the witness there ensued a period of much joy for the spectators. When Mr. Boyd's letters were produced and read aloud, with pungent comments by Mr. Appel, even the court lost its judicial gravity at intervals, and shared in the irrepressible laughter of the onlookers.

Mr. Boyd's woe sometimes led him into verse, and under the influence of a particularly bad attack he perpetrated a love song, which he was wont to warble to his Dulcina, while she accompanied his wails on the parlor organ.

By the next epistle a change had evidently come over the spirit of Boyd's dream, for he assures her that, if she does not return that watch and ring, he will make her more trouble than she has ever had in her life, and that he does not propose to "stand it" any longer. The chief anxiety expressed by Boyd appeared to be about the watch and ring, but he sandwiches in a large dose of very unsentimental rage at Miss Mabel's treatment of him.

The young woman sent a spirited retort, assuring her elderly lover that she proposed to cling to the watch and ring, if not to him, that they were her property, and that no other woman should wear them while she was alive. After the airing of Boyd's correspondence, Miss Jones was put upon the stand, and gave a spirited account of the affair, denying any engagement, and emphatically asserting that Boyd was "not her style of man." It would have needed both a stenographer and a photographer to do justice to Miss Mabel's testimony, and it was effective to the extent of confirming her in the ownership of the jewelry.

A Shrewd One.

A sult filed yesterday by Thomas H. McWebb against James K. Mulkey shows an amount of alleged sharp practice on the part of the defendant calculated to turn the milk of hu kindness into a severe case of c Mr. McWebb is an infirm old man of kindness into a severe case of curds and whey.

Mr. McWebb is an infirm old man of 22, homeless, and now possessing but little means, and of an unsuspecting disposition. He formerly lived in Caro. Mich., and while there, deeded to his married daughter, Mrs. Emma H. Ewing, his farm, containing eighty acres, receiving a trust deed in return. Neither deed was placed on record, and, in November, 1894, Mr. McWebb came to Los Angeles. Soon after, he alleges, his daughter's husband purloined the deed made to her and placed it upon record, subsequently mortgaging the property in question for $2000.

Mr. McWebb met Mulkey about a month after he came to California, and, after the trouble with Ewing, the old man confided his woes to Mulkey's sympathetic bosom. Mulkey promptly offered to go after Ewing and settle the affair, and Mr. McWebb gave him a power of attorney authorizing him to act with full authority in his stead. Mulkey did not go, however, and, in May, Mr. McWebb indorsed two notes of $1150 and $220, which he held against Ewing, and gave them to Mulkey, at his request, besides an account-book, and abstracts of title to property in Michigan, Illinois and Minnesota, Mulkey agreeing to act as Mr. McWebb's agent in the East.

On October 12, 1895, Mulkey induced Mr. McWebb to go into partnership with him, the object of the partnership ostensibly being to establish a California exhibit of fruits, nuts, wines and cereals at St. Louis, for the purpose of attracting individuals and colonies to settle in California, when the partners here could unload real estate upon the guileless strangers at fancy prices.

Mulkey had many projects in view besides the exhibit, among them a new kind of cement for pipes, burial caskets, etc., and a plan for going to Japan and illustrating American industries there. The exhibit scheme was the best, however, and the partnership was formed.

best, however, and the partnership was formed.

Instead of going to St. Louis, Mulkey opened a luxurious real estate office in the Bryson Block, and when Mr. Mc-Webb attempted to interfere, he was met by a clause in the agreement which provided that Mulkey alone should direct the affairs of the firm. Mr. McWebb soon tired of this and has now brought suit for dissolution of partnership and a general settling of affairs.

The Pico Hair Chain.

That unfortunate hair-chain of old Gov. Pio Pico's is again a subject of Gov. Pio Pico's is again a subject of litigation, and has again been awarded to Senora Joaquina Pico de Moreno by Judge Van Dyke. This old watchchain, which her father wore until the time of his death, has been awarded to Senora Moreno once by Justice Young and twice by Judge York. As Judge Van Dyke has again given her the valueless memento, which has been such a bone of contention, and apparently a species of Naboth's vineyard to Alfredo Pico, it is to be hoped that she will be allowed to remain in peaceable possession of it hereafter.

Judge Noves of Riverside yesterday tried a case that was set for Depart ment Six, as Judge Noves replace department during the absence of the latter in trying a case at San Diego. Department Six being yet occupied with the damage suit, Judge Noyes ad-journed to Department One, which was journed to Department One, which was temporarily vacant.

The case on trial was the damage suit brought by W. T. Maurice against Frederick and Charles F. Maeder, to recover $10,000 damages on account of injuries sustained from the bite of a victous dog, owned by the defendants.

Mr. Maurice was walking down Spring street when the dog attacked him, biting him so savagely that he was laid up for six months and unable to attend to business. By reason of his long illness, Mr. Maurice lost his position as manager of the Cudahy Packing Company, and he now seeks damages as a compensation for the loss of time and waster.

Company, and he now seeks damages as a compensation for the loss of time and money.

The defendants deny, among other things, that their dog bit Maurice, and, furthermore, aver that they did not have a dog. Mr. Maurice refuted one part of the denial by exhibiting the sear left by the bite, and it now rescar left by the bite, and it now re-mains to be proved that the dog be-longed to the Maeders.

Trial of Haraty.

John Haraty, the middle-aged laborer who attempted to assault little eight-year-old Pauline Brown, has been on trial for two days before Judge York. Assistant District Attorney W. T. Willams is conducting the prosecution, and is making out a strong case against the brutal defendant.

Haraty's defense takes the form of a general denial, but it is proved pretty conclusively that the attempt was made. The child herself, when put upon the stand on Monday, broke down and cried piteously when she attempted the brutal defendant.

The first stanza is pensive and reproachful:

"Some Say Love is a Pleasure.
But a Pleasure Cannot be,
for the Girl I loved so Dearly
has turned her Back on Me."

Them he waxes haughty and indifferent in the next verse:

"We have Met we have loved and parted,
and I Scorn to Breathe a Sigh."

The song ambles on through half adozen different degrees of love and despair, but the singer evidently pulled himself up at every recurrence of the refrain, and reflected upon the folly of his ways, mourning in this wise:

"I Don't See why I love her
She does not care for me:
Although My Poor hart wanders on,
Where Ever she may be."

When poesy failed of its effect. Boyd tried prose, and in a caloric epistle addressed to "My dearest and only love."
he assures her of his undying affection and makes a last effort to win her over, winding up with, "If you feel you can drop all and love me as you ought. I will wade through Blood for you, and is know you will have a happy home and a husban that would Die for you, and signing himself "As ever your own Intended H."

By the next epistle a change had evidently polled the complete of the return that watch and ring, be well and a player that the attempt was gonciusively that the attempt was gonci however, she runs away and wanders about the country half dressed. She was gay and talkative during her ex-amination, and seemed not to realize the gravity of her position.

A PIPEFUL OF REFLECTION. (CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES.) Not the least promising omen for th uture of Los Angeles is that visible in the persons of its young girls. Strong graceful, bright-eyed and rosy-lipped they flit along the streets and through the parks, perfectly in harmony with the sunshine and the flowers. Unconthe sunshine and the flowers. Unconsciously, they form an anusing commentary upon the ridiculous assertion of jealous northerners, that the next generations of Angelenos will show the hurtful effect of invalid immigrants. Not another section of the country can show such blooming little maidens and sturdy youths. There is, however, one serious result growing out of this condition of affairs. Certainly, crimes against young girls are nowhere more common than right here in Southern California, and it is to be hoped that the strong arm of the law may succeed camornia, and it is to be hoped that the strong arm of the law may succeed in affording our young daughters at least an equal protection to that pro-vided by a discriminating nature in the case of their less-favored sisters of other climes.

It was with mingled feelings of regret and admiration that we read the paragraph the other day in The Times entitled. "A Modern Solomon." It seems one vaquero knocked another down and stamped all over his face with his spurs. The Arizona Judge ordered the culprit to pay for the repairs to the other's face, and costs. This verdict shows how really simple it is to mete out justice, anyway. In the to mete out justice, anyway, case of a large plate-glass window being maliciously broken, the learned Judge would merely order the offender to have the pieces puttled together and to have the pieces puttled together and to pay costs.

The regret referred to above consisted in the fact that Grover Cleveland, if impeached, could not be brought before this modern Solomon. Doubtless, the decision of the court would be that Grover create a surplus out of his own pocket equal to that left by his Republican predecessor, and that he pay the costs of his impeachment.

Apropos of politics, I have become a free-silver man. I was converted the other evening. You see I had never studied this question very much, and had that erroneous idea that under an increased coinage of silver money would follow the same channels as before, and I could not see how a man who was follow the same channels as before, and I could not see how a man who was earning, say, $3 a day, was going to get any more. But my opponent convinced me that when the plan of his party should be put in execution, this extra money would fly around in the air with wings, and could be caught by the poor man in a hat, much in the same way as butterflies are caught. This prospect was so 'pleasing to me that I capitulated immediately. I have now got a new hat and am all ready. Let her go, Gallagher!

Thank heavens! George Meredith's serial in Scribner's is at last drawing to a close. No one else could have stretched it out to half such a length. If there is anything on each stretched it out to half such a length.

If there is anything on earth more wearisome than a free-silver argument (7) it must be a novel by George Meredith or a ride in the Pico Heights trolley.

Anxious Relatives.

Mary L. Brainard Crookston of Ann Arbor, Mich, writes to know if J. A. Brainard, the rancher, who recently died here as a result of injuries received in a runaway, is her cousin by that same name, who came west a few years ago. If anybody knows, the trouble he may take in communicating with the Michigan relative will doubtless be appreciated.

G. B. Mackenzie of No. 308 West One-hundred-and-twenty-first street. New York city, writes The Times asking for news of his long-lost uncle, Thomas Mackenzie, who came to California in 1848 or '49. If the said uncle sees this item and wants to relieve an anxious nephew's suspense, he will communicate forthwith.

In the fourth inning the San Joses scored another run on Klopf's single and Hollingsworth's double.

The eighth inning cinched the game for the home team. Lohman got his base on balls, Mauck singled and McQuaid singled, scoring Lohman; Mertes hit safe, McQuaid also singled, scoring Mauck, McKibben hit, scoring McQuaid and Mertes, McHale crossing the plate on Spear's hit. Klopf scored in the ninth inning, he reached first on a basebit, advanced to second on Hollingsworth's single and scored on McBride's safe drive to center.

THE HILL-STREET CUT. perty-owners Anxlous About the

A delegation of property-owners from the district affected by the cutting through of Hill street to Bellevue ave-nue waited on the Mayor yesterday and laid before him an alleged misapand laid before him an alleged misappropriation of funds. Their claim is that $1462 has been transferred bodily from the special fund for the cutting through of Hill street to the general cash fund, and from there all trace of the money is lost in the shuffle.

When the matter of the regrading of Hill street from Temple street to Bellevue avenue was being carried forward, the property-owners in a district extending from Main street west beyond Angeleno Heights were assessed to pay the damages resulting from the change of grade. The money raised by the assessment also covered the expense of the purchase of several lots from the Masonic fraternity, and one from the city, over which land the street would extend when connection with Bellevue avenue was made. After all expenses were paid, there remained in the fund $\frac{1}{242}$

This money was not returned prorata to the men who had paid the assessment, but was turned into the general cash fund and was thus lost to those who had given it for a specific purpose.

erai cash rund and was thus lost to those who had given it for a specific purpose.

The work of grading the street in question has been delayed by the protest of Mrs. Mary Banning, whose protest was set aside by the Council. She was awarded $2000 damages by the commission appointed to appraise the damages to her property resultant from the change of grade. Her time for acceptance of the amount awarded is now past, and work will soon be begun upon the street. If the property-owners are to be required to pay the cost of the work, they believe that in justice the money which they have already paid should be applied to that end. The matter will be brought before the Council and the city asked to either return the money or assume the expense of grading the street.

FIRE AND WATER.

An oil stove explosion was the cause of a fire on South Broadway near Fifth street a little before 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

street a little before 1 o'clock yester-day afternoon.

The oil stove was in the rooms of Mrs. Patterson in the rear of No. 513 South Broadway, up stairs. The fire burned fiercely at first, but was subdued soon after the arrival of the department. The part of the building occupied by Mrs. Patterson was gutted, and most of her belongings were destroyed. No one appeared to know whether the loss was covered by insurance. Mrs. York, who keeps a restaurant in the north half of the building, on the ground floor, was the loser by her goods being soaked with water, but her loss was covered by insurance.

Mrs. A. P. Glasgow, who occupies most of the upper part of the building, was the loser by water. Charles Strese, who keeps a tailor shop in the south part of the building in front, and Mrs. Shepherd, who lives in the rear on that side, had goods damaged by water. Mr. Strese was insured.

The total loss is estimated at $500. The building is owned by Callihan Byrne.

SAFE-BLOWERS BAGGED.

CLEVER WORK OF DETECTIVES
AUBLE AND HAWLEY.

apture of the Burglars Who Robbed the Safe at Burbank Station and Attempted Several Jobs in This City.

The safe-blowers who have been operating in Los Angeles and vicinity for several weeks past are safe behind prison bars, thanks to the clever work done by Detectives Auble and Hawley. Not only are they behind the bars of the City Jail, but so conclusive is the evidence obtained against them that it is certain that they will within a very short time be in State's prison, which, will not be a new experience for them, for both are ex-convicts.

One of the prisoners is Gus Armin, a German, 48 years of age, who has spent twenty years of his life in the penitentiary, being sent up twice from Sacramento, the first time in 1874, and once from San Jose, each time for burglary. In twenty-one years Armin has had only one year's freedom.

George Hatfield, alias Swan, has also done time in San Quentin. He is a younger man than Armin and has not been associated with him long. Hatfield was caught in the act of robbing the store of S. Griswold, No. 342½ East First street, one night the latter part of last week. He was examined in the Police Court Monday and held to answer the charge of burglary, in $3000 ball. Hatfield did not make a full confession to the detectives, but they wormed enough information out of him to learn that he had a pal and that they were jointly responsible for the series of burglaries committed or attempting to rob the principal store in the village of Downey.

The detectives got on Armin's trail yesterday morning and followed him to Downey. He carried with him a hand satchel containing a bottle of nitroglycerine, a big ball of putty, dynamite caps, fuse, drills and as complete a set of burglar's tools as was ever invented. He had placed his valles in the gutter at the back of the store which he intended to rob, and was getting ready to do the-job when the detectives gathered him in.

On the way back to the city, Armin, seeing that the officers had a dead cinch on him, confessed everything. He admitted that he and Hatfield blew open the safe at Burbank station on the Southern Pacific, twelve miles north o place.

On returning to the city the detectives went to Armin's room, where they found a larger valise containing more fuse, putty, caps, etc., and forty-five sticks of dynamite. All these explosives are in the possession of the detectives to be used as evidence. The collection is sufficient to blow the whole police station out of existence.

The catch is one of the best ever made by the Los Angeles police department, and is further evidence of its efficiency, though handicapped by smallness of numbers.

of the city officials have already started the preparation of their annual reports. It is required by the city char-ter that each of the city officers shall fle with the City Council on or before its regular meeting on the second week in December the report of his department for the year ending November 30. The Chief of Police has issued instructions to the members of the police force to make report to him of the various saloons in the city on their several beats, the houses of assignation and their occupants and other particulars in that line. They are not required to make report of the lodging-houses as on previous years.

Mr. de Laguna said yesterday that he has 1100 subscribers for the new telephones, and intends to ask the city authorities to furnish a list of the places where the eighty telephones to be furnished under the franchise free to the city are to be located. The Building Committee of the City Council has made some progress in the matter of getting additional quarters for city prisoners so as to relieve the crowded condition of the City Jail. Boyd Falls to Recover His

Jewelry. Justice Young's court has been the it is safe to say that never, during the It is safe to say that never, during the trial of ahy case, was more mirth excited than yesterday, when C. J. Boyd, a sentimental grass widower, made a frantic but ineffectual effort to recover a gold watch and a ring set with one ruby and six pearls, value $4, which he had given to Miss Mabel Jones in the fervor of love's young dream.

Miss Jones, a blooming young woman of 21, was an interested spectator of the earlier proceedings, and her laugh rang out with the frankest enjoyment of the scene, as Boyd, perched on the lonely elevation of the witness stand, related his tale of woe.

H. H. Appel, Esq., was Miss Jones's attorney, and Mr. Holloway did his best in behalf of the love-lorn widower. Boyd told his tale of woe at considerable length and with much pathetfe expression, and seemed to consider himself years hadly used. trial of any case, was more mirth ex-able length and with much pathetfe expression, and seemed to consider himself very badly used. He related the circumstances of his first meeting with Miss Jones, and the rapid growth of his passion, which culminated in repeated proposals of marriage, and in the gift of the contested jewelry. Mr. Boyd stated that he had annexed a condition to the gift, viz., that if Miss Mabel, after mature consideration, decided that she did not care to share his fate for better or worse, she should return the

she did not care to share his fate for better or worse, she should return the jewelry. She gave him the cold shoulder, but did not restore the portable property, so he wanted his jewelry back. When, Mr. Appel took the witness there ensued a period of much joy for the spectators. When Mr. Boyd's letters were produced and read aloud, with pungent comments by Mr. Appel, even the court lost its judicial gravity at intervals, and shared in the irrepressible laughter of the onlookers.

Mr. Boyd's woe sometimes led him into verse, and under the influence of a particularly bad attack he perpetrated a love song, which he was wont to warble to his Dulcins, while she accompanied his walls on the parlor organ.

companied his walls on the parlor organ.

The first stanza is pensive and reproachful:

"Some Say Love is a Pleasure,
But a Pleasure Cannot be,
for the Girl I loved so Dearly
has turned her Back on Me."

Then he waxes haughty and indifferent in the next verse:

"We have Met we have loved and parted.

ferent in the next verse:

"We have Met we have loved and parted,
and Sald our last good By,
for 'twas you that Proved false Harted,
and I Scorn to Breathe a Sigh."

The song ambles on through half a dozen different degrees of love and despair, but the singer evidently pulled himself up at every recurrence of the refrain, and reflected upon the folly of his ways, mourning in this wise:

"I Don't See why I love her
She does not care for me;
Although My Poor hart wanders on,
Where Ever she may be."

When poesy failed of its effect, Boyd tried prose, and in a caloric cpistle addressed to "My dearest and only love," he assures her of his undying affection and makes a last effort to win her over, winding up with, "If you feel you can drop all and love me as you ought, I will wade through Blood for you, and I know you will have a happy home and a husban that would Die for you," and signing himself "As ever your own Intended H."

By the next epistle a change had evidently come over the spirit of Boyd's dream, for he assures her that, if she does not return that water and recorded to the content of the cont

dently come over the spirit of Boyd's dream, for he assures her that, if she does not return that watch and ring, he will make her more trouble than she has ever had in her life, and that he does not propose to "stand it" any longer. The chief anxiety expressed by Boyd appeared to be about the watch and ring, but he sandwiches in a large dose of very unsentimental rage at Miss Mabel's treatment of him. The young woman sent a spirited retort, assuring her elderly lover that she proposed to cling to the watch and ring, if not to him, that they were her property, and that no other woman should wear them while she was alive. After the airing of Boyd's correspondence, Miss Jones was put upon the stand, and gave a spirited account of the affair, denying any engagement, and emphatically asserting that Boyd was "not her style of man." It would have needed both a stenographer and a photographer to do justice to Miss Mabel's testimony, and it was effective to the extent of confirming her in the ownership of the jewelry.

culated to turn the milk of human kindness into a severe case of curds and whey.

Mr. McWebb is an infirm old man of 72, homeless, and now possessing but little means, and of an unsuspecting disposition. He formerly lived in Caro, Mich., and while there, deeded to his married daughter, Mrs. Emma H. Ewing, his farm, containing eighty acres, receiving a trust deed in return. Neither deed was placed on record, and, in November, 1894. Mr. McWebb came to Los Angeles. Soon after, he alleges, his daughter's husband purloined the deed made to her and placed it upon record, subsequently mortgaging the property in question for $2000.

Mr. McWebb met, Mulkey about a month after he came to California, and, after the trouble with Ewing, the old man confided his woes to Mulkey's sympathetic bosom. Mulkey promptly offered to go after Ewing and settle the affair, and Mr. McWebb gave him a power of attorney authorizing him to act with full authority in his stead. Mulkey did not go, however, and, in May, Mr. McWebb indorsed two notes of $1150 and $220, which he held against Ewing, and gave them to Mulkey, at his request, besides an account-book, and abstracts of title to property in Michigan, Illinois and Minnesota, Mulkey agent in the East.

On October 12, 1858, Mulkey induced Mr. McWebb to go into partnership with him, the object of the partnership ostensibly being to establish a California exhibit of fruits, nuts, wines and cereals at St. Louis, for the purpose of attracting indisduals and colonies to settle in California, when the pattners hese could unload real estate upon the guileless strangers at fancy prices.

Mulkey had many projects in view besides the exhibit, among them a new kind of cement for pipes, burial caskets, etc. and a plan for going to Japan and illustrating American industries there. The exhibit seheme was the best, however, and the partnership was formed.

Instead of going to St. Louis, Mulkey

Instead of going to St. Louis, Mulkey opened. a luxurious real estate office in the Bryson Block, and when Mr. McWebb attempted to interfere, he was met by a clause in the agreement which provided that Mulkey alone should direct the affairs of the firm. Mr. McWebb soon tired of this and has now brought suit for dissolution of partnership and a general settling of affairs.

A PIPEFUL OF REFLECTION.

(CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES.) (CONTRIBUTED TO THE TDMS.)

Not the least-promising omen for the future of Los Angeles is that visible in the persons of its young girls. Strong, graceful, bright-eyed and rosy-lipped, they filt along the streets and through the parks, perfectly in harmony with the sunshine and the flowers. Unconsciously, they form an annusing commentary upon the ridiculous assertion of jealous northerners, that the next generations of Angelenos will show the hurtful effect of invalid immigrants. Not another section of the country can hurtful effect of invalid immigrants. Not another section of the country can show such blooming little maidens and sturdy youths. There is, however, one serious result growing out of this condition of affairs. Certainly, crimes against young girls are nowhere more common than right here in Southern California, and it is to be hoped that the strong arm of the law may succeed in affording our young daughters at least an equal protection to that provided by a discriminating nature in the case of their less-favored sisters of other climes.

It was with mingled feelings of regret and admiration that we read the paragraph the other day in The Times entitled. "A Modern Solomon." It seems one vaquero knocked another down and stamped all over his face with his spurs. The Arizona Judge ordered the culprit to pay for the repairs to the other's face, and costs. This verdict shows how really simple it is to mete out justice, anyway. In the case of a large plate-glass window being maliciously broken, the learned Judge would merely order the offender to have the pleces puttled together and to pay costs.

The regret referred to above consisted in the fact that Grover Cleveland, if in the fact that Grover Cleveland If impeached, could not be brought before this modern Solomon. Doubtless, the decision of the court would be that Grover create a surplus out of his own pocket equal to that left by his Re-publican predecessor, and that he pay the costs of his impeachment.

Apropos of politics, I have become a free-silver man. I was converted the other evening. You see I had never studied this question very much, and had that erroneous idea that under an increased coinage of silver money would follow the same channels as before, and I could not see how a man who was earning, say, $3 a day, was going to get any more. But my opponent convinced me that when the plan of his party should be put in execution, this extra money would fly around in the air with wings, and could be caught by the poor man in a hat, much in the same way as butterflies are caught. This prospect was so pleasing to me that I capitulated immediately. I have now got a new hat and am all ready. Let her go, Gallagher!

Thank heavens: George Meredith's serial in Scribner's is at last drawing to a close. No one else could have stretched it out to half such a length. If there is anything on earth more wearisome than a free-silver argument (?) it must be a novel by George Meredith or a ride in the Pico Heights trolley.

He is peculiarly fitted to the position, which calls for a proper distribution of the water from the Salt River to the various canals. He came here in 18% as engineer on the Arizona Canal, and has since been continuously engaged in canal work, involving an intimate knowledge of the canal system hereabouts.

WILL MACADAMIZE GRAND AVE-WILL MACADAMIZE GRAND AVE-

The state of grand avenue has been The state of grand avenue has been something terrible. In the dry season it was one long bed of dust of various depths—but always with plenty of dust. After rains it was equally trying from the mud. Delusive chuck-holes filled to a level of the road-were duly realized when a vehicle dropped into them. Property values doubtless suffered from the chronic condition of the road. What was otherwise a pleasant drive there the chronic condition of the road. What was otherwise a pleasant drive there was wisely avoided. But soon it will be all different. Grand avenue will be macadamized. The Board of Supervisors have ordered that four miles of the avenue be thus opened to travel. Possibly when that is completed the improvement will be carried farther.

GREEN'S SKULL FOUND. After John Green, now known to be-long in Graham county, had been bur-ied for a long period on the mess near Tempe, his remains were exhumed and the skull used as evidence before the grand jury. His coat and shoes were also submitted in evidence. The murder occurred years ago, and it is now nearly positively known that it was committed by Lyman Follett, his companion, now in Africa. Since the findings of the grand jury the evidence was lost piece by piece. Most important were the skull, coat and shoes. The shoes were worn out by a "trusty," the coat went, no one knew whither, and last and most important, the skull disappeared. A day or two ago District Court Clerk Walker was engaged in the removal of his office to other quarters. the skull used as evidence before the removal of his office to other quarters. In the course of the tearing up resulting the long-lost skull was found. On this important issues will result. It is wanted to establish the indentity of the dead man, to secure to his widow a ranch of which he was defrauded by his murderer. She is now engaged in domestic service, supporting three children, notwithstanding that her husband was a walked do nother. The service dren, notwithstanding that her husband was a well-to-do rancher. The establishing of Green's death has been a difficult point. The skull, however, will reveal his identity. It is understood that one of the attorneys for the widow will make dramatic evidence with the find. The grinning skull, with a bullet hole in its back, will be placed before the jury, side by side with one of the fair-haired children of the dead man. The contour of the child's head and that of the skull will be shown to be similar, thus proving that the dead man is indeed Green. This same skull may also figure in a trial for murder of Follett; certainly it will if he can be secured.

INDIANS AS FOOTBALLISTS. Race distinctions were strongly drawn at a football game at the park this week. It was between a team of Phoeweek. It was between a team of Phoenix boys and students of the Indian school. The natives started the ball with a splendid kick, which was caught by Hanny and slowly forced back. The whites finally made a goal, but the Pimas made a gallant fight. One white boy and two Indians were knocked out. Among the Indians were knocked out. Among the Indians were the following famous men: Robert Elsmere. Sam Randall, J. G. Whittler and Winfield Scott. Civilized names are part of the course of civilization through which the Indian school boys are put. The civilization to be had in football games is not very apparent, however.

LASSOING PRISONEDS

LASSOING PRISONERS. Deputy United States Marshal Slankard is handy with the riata, and his knowledge came in good play recently. He had three Indian prisoners to bring in from the Gila reservation. The whole party, which included Deputy Gibson, were horseback. Suddenly one of the Indians spurred his horse for a dash for liberty. Slankard pursued, uncolling his riata as he went. The big noose swung round and round, and coiled gracefully around Mr. Indian, who was jerked from his pony backwards. Meanwhile, one of the other two Indians tried the trick of his fellow-fugitive, and fled too. Slankard started in pursuit of him, soon overtook him, and yanked him likewise from his horse. After that the Indians did not try to escape. Deputy United States Marshal Slank

NOGALES, Nov. 8.—(Regular Correspondence.) An international affair has thrilled Nogales for the past several days, William Schoonmaker is an engineer on the Sonora Railroad; he resides here and stands well in the estimation of all knowing him. He has been in actual peril of his life for several days, at the hands of the Mexican government, and on his behalf appeals of every kind were made. The wires were kept buzzing between here and Guaymas, where the unfortunate man was incarcerated. Railroad officials made requests, and the Odd Fellows held a special meeting last night, and asked the Consul at Nogales, Sonora, Col. F. W. Roberts, to go to Guaymis in person and secure his release. His friends and follow-citizens were in dignant, and, while they did nothing more than keep up a devil of a talking, their sentiment may have helped, too. Whatever the cause, whether it was the Odd Fellows, the indignant public or the steps taken by Col. Roberts, or all sof them, does not appear now, but once again Schoonmaker is a free man. The Honorable Consul is mum on his own part of the accomplishment, but he comes in for a large share of credit, and probably rightfully so. Schoonmaker is no longer in the "solitary" of that most grewsome of all places of confinement in this part of the world, the Guaymas Government Prison, with two of the most villainous-looking guards imaginable; swarthy, lowering, barefooted Mexican soldiers, dressed in linen uniforms, standing over him ready to stick hayonets through him at any pre-NOGALES, Nov. 8 -(Regular Correfooted Mexican soldiers, dressed in linen uniforms, standing over him ready to stick hayonets through him at any pretext. The trouble grew out of the barbarous law of Mexico, holding engineers responsible for fatal accidents occurring on their runs. It was through a trick that Schoonmaker was gotten into Sonora—but the rest of the story is told in the following telegram:

"GUAYMAS, Nov. 7.—About midnight, Oct. 12, train from Nogales, W. F. Schoonmaker, American, engineer, was supposed to have run over and killed a

"GUAYMAS, Nov. 7.—Aboutmidnight, Oct. 12, train from Nogales, W. F. Schoonmaker, American, engineer, was supposed to have run over and killed a Mealcan at Favorite Spur, one mile south of Magdalena. The body was found the next morning by section men. He had an empty bottle in his hand, and evidently he had been drunk. The trainmen knew obsolutely nothing about striking the man and the whole matter was manifestly accidental. Examination was held at Magdalena before local authorities, and the matter referred to the court at Guaymas. Schoonmaker was called to appear, and voluntarily came from the United States, ostensibly to give his testimony. Upon reporting at court Monday, the 4th inst., he was promptly placed under arrest, put in a cell and armed guards stationed at the door. Admittance and conversation with him was denied to all. After a day or two he was allowed to sit outside in the jail-yard, but still with guards at his side.

Admittance and conversation with him was denied to all. After a day or two he was allowed to sit outside in the jailyard but still with guards at his side. Good bond was offered and accepted, but the prisoner was not released, as "the matter had not been finally settled by the court." Action is expected to be taken today—has been expected to be taken for the past three days—but Schoonmaker still remains locked up and guarded like a common murderer. It is interesting to note that in another case, when a Mexican engineer ran over and killed a man just a week before it his instance, whom he plainly saw on the track, he was not even held for an examination, but the train was only detained long enough for him to testify while on his regular run."

Drs. Chenoweth and Welles are pushing an enterprise here for the erection of an international sanitarium at Nogales. Such an institution has long been demanded here. Nogales is the summer resort of Sonora and hither come all the afflicted of the mining camps of the State over the border to cool off and be restored to health. Of such from five to twenty are always here. These will form the nucleus of the support of the new sanitarium. From the other direction, however, it is believed much patronage may be expected. The outlook is good enough to justify local capital to go ahead with the project. Two-thirds of the capital is already at hand. The sanitarium will be located on the smelter hill, it will be built of cut-stone, with roomy, shady porches, and will be No. 1 throughout.

TUCSON, Nov. 7.—(Regular Correspondence.) Slowly the big wood-cutting case of the United States vs. the spondence.) Slowly the big wood-cutting case of the United States vs. the Copper Queen Company drags in the Federal court here, the lawyers fighting for every inch of ground. The case involves about $200,000 for wood cut by the Copper Queen Company in the vicinity of Bisbee, and admittedly on government land. The matter, dating back ten years, three back-number special agents of the land office, saying nothing of the present incumbent, are here to testify. The prosecution did a smart plece of generalship in suddenly resting their case. This throws it on the defense to prove that the land in question is mineral land. This the defense attempted to show by proving that adjoining land is mineralized, and while the attorneys tusseled over the matter the jury were allowed to gooutside and stretch their weary limbs. The prosecution demanded that the defense confine its allegations only to the confine its allegations demurrer was partially sustained land on which the wood had be and the defense restricted to the vicin-ity of the land involved. After an earnest prayer by Rey J. H.

we expect to live to see the day when the saloon is no more."

After an earnest prayer by Rev. J. H. Harwood, F. M. Porter opened for the affirmative in a discussion on "Prohibition vs. State Control." The speaker was of the opinion that the only matter worth speaking of in connection with the liquor question, was the best remedy for the evils which every one admits follow in the path of the liquor traffic. When the State controls the business it becomes the silent partner and, in time, freezes out its active partner and, in time, freezes out its active partner and the business becomes a part of the political machinery of the State government. The speaker favored prohibition because it was right and was a complete remedy. State control does not remedy. It is a makeshift and an excuse for not doing a disagreeable duty. Gov. Tillman of South Carolina said that prohibition was intended to make men virtuous. This is a mistake. It is to protect society. Incidentally, by the removal of temptation and changes in the environments of men, they may be made virtuous. The average clitzen would find it very difficil to understand why the State would be permitted to do what an individual could not do. About 500,000 saloon-keepers and 750,000 bar-keepers would become government employees under a state-control system. This would not remove the liquor influence from politics—it would simply substitute a new form of corruption. Dispensaries debauch the public conscience and teach that liquor-selling is respectable. State control lacks moral enthusiasm.

Rev. I. E. Wright followed in favor of State control and state that the teach can be a second to the state of the state and teach that liquor-selling is respectable. State control lacks moral enthusiasm.

Rev. I. E. Wright followed in favor of State control, and said that the idea among engineers used to be that a railroad could not be built except in a straight line. This view was all right until it was necessary to reach the top of a hill. It then suddenly dawned upon railroad men that a curved track would wind around the mountain and finally reach the top with an easy grade. Republican governments are ruled by the majority, but the minority has rights which should be respected. Thirty-six years of labor by the Women's Christian Temperance Union in California has failed to secure prohibition, and the consumption has steadily increased. "If the people would only come up and vote, we could carry the day," is the cry. That is the trouble. They do not do this. The prohibitionists say, "God is with ua." "But let me remind them that the Lord expects them to use tact and judgment. Let them say to the beer and wine-drinker, "Saloons are a great source of corruption. We wish to get rid of them, and we will provide dispensaries so you can obtain liquors the same as you now obtain liquors the same as you now obtain the advantages of the postoffice."

The Y. J. H. Harwood, Edward Hutchison, H. S. Hill, Mrs. M. E. Benson, Louis K. Webb, Lloyd Jenkins, Dr. J. H. Weller, J. D. Steele and A. C. Wheeler spoke, and gave a great variety of views on the matter.

EVENING SESSION.

The evening session of the parliament was called to order by Rev. I. E. Wright, who introduced Ralph E. Hoyt as the chairman of the evening. Charles Ryan executed a violin solo, "Rigoletto." with plano accompaniment by Myrten Ryan, in a very creditable manner.

Clarence A. Miller was the principal speaker of the evening, and described in detail the single-tax land system favored by Henry George. The speaker said he had been impressed with the fact that the only spot in the millions of acres on an earth created by God for man which millions of poor people can lay claim to is the long home, "God's acre. "Vested right in land has become so deeply rooted in our laws," said the speaker, "that Blackstone was inclined to think that a man who rode over another man's land in a balloon was trespassing."

Miss Josephine Gliman recited with marked expression and with plano accompaniment Eugene Fleid's beautiful poem, "Singing in God's Acre."

S. A. Waldron led the discussion against the tax system favored by Mr. Miller, and was followed by Frank G. Finlayson, who supported Mr. Miller.

SANTA MONICA.

Death of Abijah Cutler—Social and Other Local News.

BANTA MONICA, Nov. 12,—(Regular Correspondence.) Avijah Cutler; a venerable and respected citizen of the South Side, died suddenly last night, in his seventy-seventh year. He was a native of Massachusetta, and had been several years a resident here. The funeral will be held at the late residence at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

John Kennedy and bride (nee Nettie Marshall.) who returned to Santa Monica Saturday evening, were serenaded that night by the Cornet Band by way of welcome home; but that being a cool sort of reception some of the Eastern Star ladies decided yesterday to be more cordial, consequently the friends of the couple dropped in upon them last evening at the residence of the groom's father on Sixth street, and to the number of thirty, and took possession of the house. There was music and dancing and cards during seasonable hours, and coffee, cake and sandwiches circulated freely, along with good wishes for the future to the happy pair.

The ladies of the W.R.C. have announced a "crazy social" for Saturday evening next at their hall. It is useless to attempt a description of what the programme will be like.

Constable Myers made sale this afternoon of a vehicle which has been the bone of considerable legal contention. It was an oak-finished phaeton, levied upon some months ago as the property of Mrs. S. E. Randall. A Ventura claimant forestalled its sale at the time of the levy by proceedings to establish ownership, but the officer won and the creditor today bid in the rig at $55.

The Rebekah Degree, Odd Fellows, entertained their friends and brothermen at their hall last evening.

The shelving is at last being placed in the vault adjoining the Town Clerk's office, and the municipal records will soon be safe from fire. The vault is built of cement, and has been slow to dry out thoroughly. It is now believed that it is in condition for use.

What the Keeley

Treatment can do for the victim of opium, morphine or alcohol has been proved time and time again. Of course the man who drinks can't see it. The corner saloonkeeper tells him he will lose his mind with just as straight a face as if the man who drinks really had a mind, and the man who drinks never thinks any man's wisdom is quite so wise as the corner saloonkeeper. You folks in the drunkard's home have got to offset that saloon-keeper's talk before you can get the victim of alcohol to learn what the Keeley

Treatment does.

He will deny himself everything that the dear old mother may have every comfort she needs, and many a good son works and slaves, puta good son works and slaves, put-ting away every dollar he can, in order to pay doctors' bills for the treatment of mother, and yet she gets no better. THE ROAD TO HEALTH.

Some New Thoughts on a Well-worn Theme---What Shall We Do to Be Well?—A Brief Answer to This Important Query.

T. FOO YUEN, M. D.,

Imperial Chinese Physician.

THERE IS A RIGHT WAY AND A WRONG WAY IN EVERYTHING. The former always leads to success; the latter inevitably to failure. In nothing is this fact truer than in

The Art of Healing.

Disease and death are no respecters of persons. They will not wait for you to experiment. If you hit upon the wrong plan of medication you are certain to lose your health, and you may lose your life.

Thousands of People have wasted their substance upon many physicians without relief. They are perhaps suffering from obscure diseases beyond the reach of ordinary methods of the doctors. The trouble in their cases is that

The Diagnoses Are Wrong.

It may be that they are aware of this fact, and that we are not helping them in stating it. But we expect to go farther and to show that the only correct method of ascertaining the seat of disease, its origin, and the extent to which it has deranged the organic functions or depreciated the constitutional vigor of the patient is in Diagnosis by the Pulse.

The pulse is an invariable index of bodily conditions, whether they be normal or abnormal. It makes no mistakes and tells no falsehoods. It tells its own story directly to the physician, and therefore does not introduce into the problems concerning any individual's health those uncertainties arising from a too frequent inability to answer fully and correctly all of the Symptoms Are Always Misleading.

They do not tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. Moreover, the same symptoms may have half a dozen different causes. You cannot cure a disease by doctoring for pains and aches. You may relieve the symptoms by deadening the nerves to sensation, or by other temporary expedients. But the root of the difficulty will remain and the symptoms will continue to recur until that root is removed. In ordinary medical methods this can only be accomplished by prescribing for one malady after another until, if the patient survives the drugs, he may possibly find relief. In other words, by continued guessing, the doctor may at last hit upon the true cause of the trouble. It has remained for to introduce a more scientific and satisfactory method of diagnosis to the attention of American citizens. In the Orient this problem has been discussed for centuries, and the result of continued study is the Chinese method of diagnosis by the pulse. The most able exponent of this method at present residing in this country is Dr. T. Foo Yuen, of No. 17 Barnard Park, Los Angeles. His success is always so marked that scores of people who have been examined by him insist upon believing him to be a clairvoyant, although he has expressly declared in dozens of written articles that he claims no supernatural power whatever. His skill is due to the application of scientific principles in constant practice for many years.

A Kindred Error

to a faulty diagnosis is the common practice of local treatment for diseases that invariably arise from derangements of the vital organs or from the natural consequence of such derangement, an impure and depleted condition of the system. Such diseases are catarrh, eczema, ulcerated sore throats, diph theria, many forms of the so-called consumption, and dozens of others. Local treatment will never cure these disorders unless it is reinforced by a renewal of the vital powers and a cleansing of the entire system from impurities. This is a cardinal principle of Dr. Foo's practice, and he is able to accomplish the results desired with safety and certainty, because he employs only non-poisonous remedies, consisting exclusively of roots, herbs, barks and similar vegetable substances, embracing more than three thousand varieties, all of which are imported from the Orient. The use of these remedies may be continued indefinitely without setting up any of the new complications, so often worse than the original malady, which follow the use of mineral remedies and poisonous narcotics.

Dr. Foo Treats All Diseases,

whether acute or chronic. The measure of his success may be shown by the testimonials of hundreds of persons residing in Southern California, who have received untold benefit from his remedies. If the above facts appeal to your sense of what is right and just, and you have any need whatever of a physician, you should consult Dr. Foo at his office, No. 17 Barnard Park, which may be reached by either the University electric or the Grand-avenue cablecar. Office hours from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Consultation, Diagnosis and Opinion Absolutely

No incurable cases will be undertaken. If you desire further information preliminary to a consultation write to Dr. Foo's business manager for instructive and valuable literature on this subject. Address: B. C. Platt, Box 1717. Station F. Los Angeles.

Youthful Vandalism.

There was a "nail fight" among the youth of the Lincoln-avenue district youth of the Lincoln-avenue district Sunday afternoon, which resulted in the arrest today of five lads on the charge of malicious mischief. The nails used were not such as usually figure in juvenile scrimmages, but they were the property of Contractor Aaron Klocke, who is constructing the Lincoln-avenue school building. The boys possessed themselves of the nails, which were stored in the building, scattered them broadcast in the nail battle, threw them into the mortar, spoiling it for the uses for which it was prepared, flung pieces of timber about, and committed such wanton vandalism that the contractor caused their arrest. It is probable that the boys will be vigorously prosecuted, and such vandalism should receive the severest private as well as public censure. The boys who engaged in the nail fight will probably learn by the experience in store for them that the sport which injures property and causes expense and trouble to others has no excuse for its existence. OFFICE OF THE TIMES.

Los Angeles, November 12, 1895.
CLEAN PAPER MONEY. There is nothing nonsensical in the prejudice Californians have against paper money. Apart from the Act that California has never been current, there is over and above that an absolute dislike against paper money, and when it comes in the form of a dirty ragged bank note, paper money, and when it comes in the form of a dirty ragged bank note, reeking, possibly, with all sorts of contagion, the dislike ceases to be a prejudice. It becomes a well-founded objection which any and all persons are justified in holding. The Bankers' Encyclopedia draws' in its last issue, very marked attention to this matter. It says: "If the people really knew how many persons had caught some sort of disease from handling paper money, which had previously been in the possession of sufferers from some contagion, they would demand a radical change in the policy of the government toward old greenbacks and bank notes." It advises the adoption of a rule by the United States Treasury not to permit it any sub-treasury to pay out to banks or persons any but new greenback notes and that national banknotes which have been in use should be replaced by new ones. It cites the rule in use at the Bank of England, that none but new bills are paid out over its counters, and then adds: "The United States Treasury should do as much for the American people as that bank does for the people of Great Britain." It closes with a suggestion that some member of Congress take this matter in hand at the coming session, that as a sanitary precaution the expense consequent thereon should not be MISSOURI'S NEW BANKING LAW. Speaking of the new bank-law of Missouri, the News of St. Joseph prints an interview with a capitalist of that city, showing how it is having the effect of wiping out a number of wildcat concerns. "Under the old law," says the News, "many confidence games were sprung under the name of banks. In the smaller towns men without capital or any stock in trade except nerve were able to start a bank. The lack of any rigid examination gave such men full swing, and when depositors's money came in it was used in speculation or in any other way the bank officials saw fit. When the General Assembly passed a law modeled after that of Illinois and many other states, requiring examinations by a regular bank examiner, there was a howl from these men who had been buncoing the rural population. When the law went into effect it became evident where the shee pinched. The bank examiner began to find all kinds of irregularities among these modern wildcat banks, and the result has been cat MISSOURI'S NEW BANKING LAW examiner began to find all kinds of irregularities among these modern wildcat banks, and the result has been that from fifteen to twenty of them have been closed up or suspended during the last three months. As the examiner is proceeding with his work he unearths more and more rottenness hitherto concealed, and the end is not yet. This is working more or less hardship on the victimized depositors, but they will be paid in full in one thing—experience.

HONEY CROP. This year's crop of honey in Southern California, while not in quantity more than an average one, is considerably above the average in quality. A large quantity of what is dealt in here in Los Angeles comes from Riverside and San Diego counties, and some from Arizona. It includes orange-blossom, alfalfa seed and sage oney, and also, in the clarified form, what is known as amber honey. While the local consumption of honey is said to be on the increase, over 80 per cent. of the total crop is sent East, where it is better appreciated than it seems to be here. It is a matter of surprise to many that more honey is not consumed in California. It is nourishing, and an excellent diuretic, while it is a veritable Balm of Gilpad to those having weak lungs. The only person who has any just grounds to cry out against honey is the man or woman who happens to have decayed teeth. Talks with honey-dealers on Los Angeles street show that prices this year will not exceed those of last year.

fairly on it legs, and shipments are arriving rapidly. "Bananas are stead-ily growing in favor with the people of Southern California," said a repreof Southern California," said a representative of the Germain Fruit Company today, to a Times reporter. "Our imports," he continued, "have gone on increasing year after year, but we are never at a loss to find ready sale for them. Prices are a shade lower at present than they were a few years ago, but this year's prices will not show much change from those of last season. In lots of 100 bunches prices are $1.75 naked, that, is to say, without crating.

LEATHER AND HIDE TRADE. There does not, on investigation, seem to be much basis for the report that reached here some days ago, that the United States Leather Trust had ordered the closing of 100 tanneries, thereby throwing 15,000 men out of employment.

The Shoe and Leather Review, speaking on the matter, says: "As a matter of fact, production at the yards controlled by the big corporation (the United States Leather Company) has been curtailed for many weeks past." This has, however, been sufficient to create some disturbance in the leather and hide trade, and prices, especially in the latter, have undergone several fluctuations during the last few days. Manager Bergin of the Los Angeles Soap Company, which is, perhaps, the largest handler of green and dried hides in Southern California, said to a Times reporter:

"Yes, the hide market cannot be said to be 'hide-bound' at the present time. It has been making some extraordinary jumps during the last weeks, mostly of a downward charactes. For instance, there was yesterday," he continued. "Two drops during the day of '½ cent "Torken the jumps during the last weeks, mostly of a downward charactes. For instance, there was yesterday," he continued. "two drops during the day of ½ cent each. Prices are as low now as they will probably get for some time to come." Yesterday quotations on this market were: Sound dry hides, 12 cents per pound, as they run; sound dry kips, 9 cents, and sound dry calfs, 14 cents per pound. This is an average of from 3 to 4 cents a pound less than prices of a month ago.

With the exception of a very small number, all dry and green hides are sent from here to the East. There are no tanneries here to use them. The shipments average about 4500 dry and green hides a month, of which 3000 come from Los Angeles, the remainder from San Bernardino and other interfor points. The average weight of Southern California hides is: Dry, 23 pounds; green, 50 pounds. The average monthly value of the shipments is about $20,000.

The Times has, on frequent occaocasions, spoken of the excellent opening there was here for a large tannery. Everything needed is at hand. Hides, canalgre for tanning, and petroleum for cheap fuel. Some one will, of course, some day see these things and understand them, and then a tannery commensurate, in some degree, with the requirements of the trade of Southern California will be established.

EARLY FLORIDA ORANGES. Reports from the extreme southern naris

NEW INCORPORATIONS. Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday by the Pacific Coast Telephone and Electric Motor Company of Los Angeles. The five directors are: T. M. Gibson, William C. Harrison, John C. Maccabe, S. Weatherhalt and H. J. Lloyd. The capital stock is $100,000, divided into 1000 shares. Of this amount $12,500 is actually subscribed.

The Deciduous Fruit-Growers' Association has filed articles of incorporation. The principal place of business will be Los Angeles, and the purpose of the company is to promote all things to the advancement of the growers of deciduous fruits. The five directors are: L. H. Gallup, C. W. Hayes, J. Ross, A. Ingram and W. T. Martin. The capital stock is $20,000, divided into 20,000 shares. Of this amount $25 has been actually subscribed.

THE PACIFIC CABLE. At a meet African British colonies, held in Lon-don, October 29, the scheme of a Pa-cific cable was again discussed and advocated by those present. Reports which were read at the meeting indicated that the colonies were, for the most part, willing to bear their share of the ex-pense, and were anxious that the work should be done as quickly as possible.

NEW YORK MARKETS. Shares and Money (REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.-The keynote

to the speculation today came, as usual

The earlier cables from Europe reported some uneasiness as to the fortnightly settlement in London, which began today, and British consols and prices for and British consols and prices for American securities at that center came lower. Later advices were more re-as-suring. The volume of business showed improvement over Monday's record and the dealings were fairly well dis-tributed, with the Grangers and In-dustrials as groups leading in point of activity and extent of fluctuations. There was no actual news regarding dustrials as groups leading in point of activity and extent of fluctuations. SANTA ANA TO HAVE A NEW IN-CANDESCENT LIGHTING SYSTEM.

City Trustees Held a Specia Session—Several More Hold-ups Reported—New Secret Society Of-fleers—News Notes and Brevities.

SANTA ANA, Nov. 12.—(Regular Correspondence.) It is quite likely that Santa Ana will have another incandescent-lighting system in the very near future. It was learned today (Tuesday) that Messrs, Enderle & Tracy, proprietors of the Santa Ana Machine Shops, were arranging to put in an incandescent system, and a member of the firm, Mr. Tracy, was interviewed in reference to the matter.

"Yes, we are considering the matter." said he, in answer to a question from the newspaper man, "and we will probably know definitely in a very few days just what we will do. If we put in the the newspaper man, "and we will probably know definitely in a very few days just what we will do. If we put in the system, we can run economically and profitably on 200 lights, while the old system cannot do good business with less than 400 lights, We are already engaged in ascertaining from the business men what number of lights we can place, and if a sufficient number on be procured we will go ahead at once with the work of putting in the machinery. So far we have canvassed about half of the business houses, and we have 100 lights promised. We would be willing to put in the system with 150 lights promised."

Mr. Tracy left on the afternoon train for Los Angeles on business pertaining to the new enterprise.

Santa Ana, at the present time, has no incandescent system in use. A system was used here about a year ago, but these lights were turned off last spring, since which time merchants have had to use gas or oil.

The business men of the city will hall the new enterprise with delight.

MEETING OF CITY TRUSTEES.

A special called meeting of the Board of Trustees of the city of Santa Ana was held Monday evening for the purpose of considering the construction of cross-walks, and the advisability of ordering the Street Superintendent to make an assessment for the proportionate amount to pay on the contract, and also to consider the most feasible method of dealing with the transported.

The first business to be transacted was the appointment of a committee, consisting of Messrs, C. A. Hunt and Street Superintendent Nash, to draft specifications and to advertise for bids for putting down cross-walks where required or putting down cross-walks where required.

This being disposed of, the matter of purchasing rock with which to work the tramps was brought up and discussed, the opinion of the members of the board being that some stringent heasures should be adopted to check the inflow of the migrating "vags." It was believed the most, severe panishment that could be meted out to them was to administer a little good, honest toil on a rock-pile, and the board at once very wisely adopted this plan. Councilman Lutz was appointed a committee, with power to act, to purchase the rock and make ready for the work. The following resolution was read and passed:

MORE HOLD-UPS REPORTED.

ORE HOLD-UPS REPORTED. The depredations of the tramps that are now beginning to infest this portion of the country with their unwelcome presence are becoming more and more numerous. The last few days more numerous. The last few days they seem as if by common consent to have turned themselves loose on the citizens of the valley. Several residents were boldly stopped by them on the public highway and asked, in terms more forceful than elegant, to yield up the cash or any other valuables that they had with them.

In some instances they were successful, but in others they tackled without proper reasoning and several of the worthless fellows came near being sent into kingdom come.

As a result of these recent depredations, the officers of the town have started out on a crusade against the weary wagglers and nine of them were gathered up yesterday (Monday.) Three more were found on the following morning and all were taken before Justice of the Peace S. M. Craddick, who gave them time sentences in the County Jail.

AZUSA VALLEY.

AZUSA, Nov. 11.—(Regular Correspondence.) The people of Glendora are sponderice.) The people of Glendora are preparing to meet either the confirma-tion or rejection of the Wright act by the Supreme Court next January. It can be stated on the most reliable au-thority that the people are maturing can be stated on the most reliable authority that the people are maturing plans to form a corporation within the next few weeks that will be able to master the situation and bring water to that lovely locality without the aid of the Wright law; or, in the event of its being sustained, to proceed upon the original plans if that course seems best. This item of news is of exceeding importance to the whole valley, and the favorable reception it will receive upon the streets of Azusa will show that our little city will rejoice with the people of Glendora upon renewed prospects of an adequate supply of water. The foundation of the new Baptist. Church is completed and the structure will soon rear its walls coequal with the stone building of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

The board of directors of our local Chamber of Commerce has undertaken the mission of having the mineral lands of the San Gabriel Canyon excluded from the government park established there two years ago. On the authority of Ducummon, the Los Angeles assayer, it is stated that he alone has purchased over one million dollars worth of gold dust and nuggets from this canyon since he has been in the business. Senator White and Representatives McLachian and Bowers have been impressed with the necessity of modifying the boundaries of the reservation so that mining prospectors may get title to their mines, and have promised to present the proposed memorial to Congress and advocate it and have the mineral belt set aside, if possible.

Dairyman's Domestic Troubles. The Rock Pile for Tramps—Super-visors Decide Against a Countyline Survey-Demens Case in the SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 12.—(Regular Correspondence.) The movement of the Supervisors of this county to provide work for the brake-beam touriets who aim to spend the winter in Southern California and lead lives of idleness, luxury and ease amid our orange groves has been variously critinieness, luxury and ease amid our or-ange groves, has been variously criti-cised, but the results are being watched with interest in other localities. The rock pile is a success viewed from every point. Not only was it the means of providing a hig pile of broken well the rock pile is a success viewed from every point. Not only was it the means of providing a big pile of broken rock the first week of its existence, but it is already bringing results in the compilaints from Riverside county as to the number of tramps which are coming that way to avoid a reception in this city. During the first week the rock pile was in operation fifty tons of rock was broken, and if the number of tramps at work keeps up to the present limit, enough stone will be broken in three weeks, so that it will be hauled out and the work of macadamizing begun. Supervisor Newburg obtains the rock from the Colton Cement Company, paying 95 cents per ton delivered.

But the best way to judge of the merits of the plan is the way the prisoners who have been worked on the rock pile feel about it, and when they are released from the jall at the expiration of their sentence, they make haste to get over the county line, and, with many oaths, swear they will not lay themselves liable again.

MARITAL INFELICITY.

Mrs. Kate A. Jones, who created something of a sensation Saturday evening by leaving the city without giving her husband her future address, and taking their six-year-old daughter along with her, is now the defendant in one of the most peculiar suits which was ever brought in a local court. It is but three days since she deserted her husband, and the briefness of her absence precludes the possibility of the forsaken spouse filing a divorce suit, but he comes into court and sues to recover possession of the child which Mrs. Jones took with her. W. J. Jones is the name of the husband. He drives a route for a local dairy, and, with his wife, has lived just a little out of town. She was a familiar figure on the streets, always driving a big sorrel horse in an open buggy. They were married September 9, 1886, and have two children—a boy aged 8, who is with the father, and the daughter who was taken away with her mother.

It seems that the home life was not an it might have been, and a separation had been talked of; but Saturday afternoon, without giving any hint of her intention, Mrs. Jones came to town, made several purchases at local stores, rode to the Santa Fe station in the St. Charles bus, the driver of which checked her trunk for her, and left on the afternoon train with a ticket reading to Fullerton, in Orange county, Mrs. Jones's parents live there, and in the complaint which Mr. Jones filed this morning he alleges that she is the daughter of H. C. and Mattie Harrington, and that they have induced her to desert him, and are ultimately the cause of all her woes.

Lodging—house in Peril.

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 12—(Regular Covrespondence.) About a year ago Clifton E. Mayne posed as the first president of the Raliroad Mens' Raliroad in this city. He dwelt in one of the most pretentious houses in town. His sleek, well-groomed horses, liveried coachman, and highly-polished carriage were on the atreets frequently. Mayne was regarded as a man of means. His quick, intelligent mind made him many friends. To be sure there was some talk about his reputation back in Omaha. Occasionally he bragged a little about hood-winking San Francisco grand juries, when they attempted to indict him for illegal work in obtaining street-rail-way franchises. He was charged openly with fraud. Still he continued to do business. Even a local national bank allowed Mayne to use its name on his business cards as a reference. His reputation made it necessary for him to relinquish the railway presidency. In fact, owing to the exposure of the scheme in The Times, which showed conclusively that Mayne's company advertised false pretenses and offered things which his company did not possess, the articles of incorporation were withdrawn, and the fake scheme was reorganized under another management. In February a real estate agent committed suicide because discovered trying to sell land on a forged deed. The matter came dangerously near to Mayne's door. Many believe the unfortunate agent was Mayne's tool. Then came Mayne's indictment by the grand jury for attempting to bribe the Common Councilmen. He escaped because of the negligence of the law officers. They impaneled twenty-four instead of twenty-five jurymen. The case was never followed up by the county procecutor. That is one of the things the people want to have explained. Then Mayne's more in the State Prison. Crowds of people turned out in the rain Monday night to listen to the Bostonians in "Robin Hood." Schooner Chromo Capsised—Fatal Accident—Brevities.

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 12.—(Regular Correspondence.) A southeaster has been prevailing all afternoom, accompanied with dust. This is the storm that was brewing yesterday, and caused the capsizing of the Chinese junk, Chromo, which was on the way to the Hollister estate at Gaviota with a load of lumber. The junk capsized off More's Landing. At the time of the accident there was one man on deck and two below asleep. Fortunately they escaped drowning. The accident was occasioned by the junk carrying too much off a deck-load, so that when the wind struck her over she went. She is denominated a junk in these waters owing to the style of sall she carries. The Chromo had been here some time transporting guano from San Miguel Island, and Capt. Ellis engaged her for this trip. He. Capt. Jars and two sailors were aboard. All succeeded in reaching shore. The Chromo was drifting at the mercy of the waves at last report.

THAT MEAT FAILURE.

MEAD-WRIGHT CO.'S ASSETS ARE VERY SCARCE.

Liabilities are Large-Deputy Sher iffs Scouring the City for Sequestered Property-Wright Said to Have Returned to the City.

Sheriff Burr's deputies still are scouring the city for assets of the Mead-Wright Company, whose failure has Wright Company, whose failure has created the biggest sensation, not to say scandal, that has occurred in local business circles since the City Bank went to the wall in June, 1893.

The search made by the officials yes-their falling into the hands of creditors. The cold-storage compartment of the company was also invaded by the Sheriff's minions who seized about $100 worth of meat stored therein.

At the main business place of the firm on North Main street, Capt. Oliver, the Sheriff's keeper, is still in charge. He has sold out all the meat in stock, except some leaf lard, which he will try out this morning and sell to the highest bidder. Capt. Oliver was yesterday engaged in making an inventory of the fixtures and other assets in his possession, but this is not yet completed.

At the same time that the Sheriff's

tory of the fixtures and other assets in his possession, but this is not yet completed.

At the same time that the Sheriff's officers are busy digging up assets and levying upon them, the sum of known liabilities is also increasing. Each day additional 'creditors' bob up and file claims. It appears that the firm has not been paying for anything lately, save such things and services as could not be had except for cash on delivery. The claims filed are for work, printing, rent, loans and supplies of various kinds. Some predict that the liabilities will foot up as much as $40,000, but this is probably an exaggeration. A conservative estimate is $20,000.

It was reported yesterday that Wright had returned to the city. The Sheriff had deputies looking for him, but up to the close of office hours he had not been located. No warrant for his arrest has been issued, but the Sheriff is desirous of interviewing him in regard to the firm's business. The creditors are very anxious for an explanation of certain transactions. By absenting themselves from the city, or keeping under cover, the members of the firm have encouraged the theory that the failure was premeditated. The officials in charge and the creditors, judging by their statements, almost unanimously incline to the belief that it was a deliberately-planned swindle.

E. E. Grow, the head book-keeper of the company, is still among the missing. There is no apparent reason for his absence, except that he stood in with his employers in their plan to defraud creditors, and when the crisis came he levanted in order to avoid possible arrest. When Deputy Sheriff Olliver served the attachment last Friday, Grow was in charge of the office. Capt. Oliver demanded the keys to the safe, but Grow said that Mr. Wright locked the safe and took the keys with him when he left. The officers did not believe the statement and peremptorily ordered Grow to produce the keys on penalty of arrest for resisting a legal process. Grow said he would see about it, and with that walked out of the o brother.

Mention has already been made of the recent incorporation of the firm, which was formerly known as Mead. Wright & Company, under the laws of Nevada as the Mead-Wright Company. The opinion is freely expressed that this was done for the purpose of transferring the business of the firm to Nevada, after the field was worked day here.

where, william T. Mead, the senior member of the firm, is said to have interests in San Luis Obispo and Santa Barbara counties, where, it is alleged, he has always borne a good name. In this city, too, Mr. Mead had many friends who regarded him as an honorable man.

city, too, Mr. Mead had many friends who regarded him as an honorable man.

Robert L. Wright, the junior member of the firm, has resided in and about Los Angeles many years. He has been engaged in the cattle and retail meat business most of the time, and, although a good judge of cattle, was not considered a good business man. Something over a year ago he and Mead formed a partnership and bought out Louis Struber, who had succeeded to the business of Vickery & Hinds, who for a number of years had conducted one of the most prosperous wholesale and retail meat establishments in the city.

The advent of the new firm was heralded by a flourish of trumpets, and rival butchers were given to understand that competition would be lively. About a year ago the firm applied for a packing-house franchise in the city, but it was never granted. It was at the time given out that one of the big Kansas City packing-houses was backing them in this ambitious enterprise, but the application for the franchise is now believed to have been made merely for the advertising that it would give the firm.

now believed to have been made merely for the advertising that it would give the firm.

The firm started a number of branch retail markets and about six months ago inaugurated a meat-rate war. Other local butchers allege that it was this ruinous policy that brought on the crash. It is alleged the firm has done business at a loss right along. The superintendent of a rival butchering establishment says he knows that Mead and Wright have been slaughtering seventy-five beeves a week, on which they lost on an average $4$ a head. They sold hides by contract for $3$ apiece, while other firms got $6$ and over for the same grade of skins. Several wholesale butchers who were interviewed gave it as their opinion that it was lack of sound business methods and nothing else that led to the failure. The manner in which assets were made way with, though, and other suspicious circumstances, are proof positive to many of the creditors that fraud was intended.

Were it not for the fact that enough money will be realized by the Sheriff's sale to pay off all the claims for labor, some of the employees would be apt to handle their late employers roughly, should they be able to lay hands on them. Many of them denounce their treatment as shameful.

The condition of Mrs. Grow, the wife of the absent book-keeper, was reported very critical yesterday, and it is believed that the shock caused by her husband's strange conduct will hasten her death. She recently had a dangerous surgical operation performed, and her recovery has been doubtful at best.

Pauper Family Shipped Here from Reno, Nev.

The population of Los Angeles has lately been increased by the addition of a family of six from Missouri. The "Big Muddy" State is a good place to emigrate from, and there are many people from that State who are desirable immigrants, but the Barron family, just arrived, is not of the class of newcomers that the Chamber of Commerce is endeavoring to attract.

To the enterprising municipality of Reno, Nev., Los Angeles is indebted for this accession to the population. In this case Reno's loss is not Los Angeles's gain, but vice versa. The Barron family, as a matter of fact, are paupers and have been sent here by the Reno city authorities.

The family consists of C. J. Barron, a weak-eyed, sickly individual, who, besides his other infirmities, is also hard of hearing; his wife, who is a paralytic who cannot walk a step or lift a hand to minister to the wants of her children, of whom there are four, the oldest a lad of 10, who is feebleminded: the youngest, a babe in arms, it months old. The other two children are of intermediate ages and sizes and are also not overly bright nor blessed with good health. Besides being poor and shiftless, they are outrageously filthy. Capt. Clark, the Humane Officer, who visited them yesterday, says in all his experience he has never before witnessed such abject squalor.

This remarkable family is quartered in a tent on San Fernando street, near the cable road viaduet. Their earthly possessions besides their tent and filth and infirmities, consist of two rickety wagons and four decrepit and half-staryed broncos. The head of the family is ays they drove with this outful all the way from Ozark county, Mo., to Reno, Nev. There they became a public charge, and the authorities chartered a box car for $75, loaded them and their belongings, horses and all, into it and shipped them to Los Angeles can well spare them from its census figures.

The attention of the Associated Charities has been called to the case. The people are practically destitute, but when the Humane Officer called on them yesterday they were feasting on bread and honey, and said they required nothing to supply their immediate wants.

A party of twenty-five immigrants, men, women and children, is tolling painfully across the Colorado Desert from Yuma to Banning. Their horses have given out and now they trudge along with their shoeless feet wrapped with old gunny sacks. Their clothing is in tatters and for three days they have had no food but gruel. Sunday their water gave out. They signaled a Southern Pacific train to stop and the engineer gave them a barrel of the precious liquid. Last night Express Messenger Sy Rolls took a quantity of food and clothing which he had solicited in the city, to put off at Walters. The sufferers expected to reach that point last night. They are from Oklahoma, and started with almost no resources. They have been helped on from point to point, their last benefactors being the citizens of Yuma. A party of twenty-five immigrants
